

Premier Ky to Seek Presidency in Vietnam National Elections Sept. 3

By R. W. APPLE JR.
(C) N.Y. Times News Service
SAIGON — Premier Nguyen Cao Ky told his cabinet at a private meeting yesterday that he would seek the presidency in the Sept. 3 national elections.

Cabinet members said the 37-year-old premier had described his decision as "final and unequivocal."
A few hours after Ky made known his plans, Lt. Gen. Nguyen Van Thieu, the chief of state, said it was "entirely possible" that he would run against his military colleague.
In an interview with the New York Times, Thieu asserted that he would enter the race "if no worthy candidates seem likely to be elected." He said he would cast aside his personal preference to retire from politics "because I can never accept the risk of having my country governed by a bad man."

Until yesterday both Thieu and Ky have insisted that only one of them would seek the presidency. For both to run, they have said, would risk a split in the armed forces, which has been relatively unified during the 23-month life of the incumbent military government.

But Thieu said that the senior generals had agreed that no one would be permitted to label himself as a military candidate, officially or unofficially. Therefore, he added, "any soldier is free to run — myself or the lowest ranking private."

Asked whether he regarded either of the two major civilian presidential candidates, Phan Khac Suu and Ha Thuc Ky, as "worthy" men, the General replied: "Suu is too old, and Ky could never get elected. Any man in the street will tell you that." And Marshal Ky?

"I will make a judgment about him at the proper moment," Thieu may have been making what Vietnamese officers still call a "baroud d'honneur" — a last futile gesture. But if he has concluded that he is out of the running, if he was talking about running to save face, he gave no hint of it as he calmly discussed his prospects in the independence palace office.
Should the two officers run against each other, the job of handling the day to day affairs of the country, which they share, could be vastly complicated.

But Thieu said that he and Ky would "behave like gentlemen." He said they would "not fight each other, because we don't care to say 'he's good' or 'he's bad.'"
"We want a hard campaign," the general added, "with as many candidates as possible. But there will be no great difficulties between us, and I don't see why we couldn't continue to run the government the same as before."
Speaking in English, the slight, softvoiced former infantryman said he might not make his decision until a few days before the deadline for filing, July 5. He said this was "a little tactics."

Greece Warned On Aid

BY HEDRICK SMITH
(C) N.Y. Times News Service
WASHINGTON — Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara has warned the new Greek government that the United States may cut off military aid to Athens unless Greece is returned by its military rules to constitutional government.

McNamara returning late Wednesday night from Europe, told newsmen he had conveyed the warning to Lt. Gen. Grigoriou Spandidakis, the Greek defense minister, during a meeting in Paris of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization. Although the United States has made no secret of its displeasure over the suspension of civil liberties and constitutional government in Greece by the right-wing coup d'etat on April 21, this was the strongest American representation yet disclosed to the new military Junta.

It indicated a sharp rejection on an appeal one week ago by Spandidakis for an increase in American military aid to help prevent the country from falling to the Communists.

Since 1947, American aid to Greece has totaled roughly $3.5 billion, divided almost equally between economic and military aid because of the growth of the Greek economy. U.S. economic aid had been cut back to about $6.8 million in 1966. Military aid totaled $78.7 million last year and is understood to be running at about the same level this year.

In his conversations with Spandidakis, McNamara said he had "hesitated to comment on internal Greek affairs" but that he observed that Washington was "disheartened by the move away from democracy, from constitutional government, in Greece."
The defense secretary said he informed the Greek defense minister that Washington "could only hope that they would lay out a pact" to return to parliamentary and constitutional procedures.

McNamara said that Spandidakis "indicated that his colleagues intended to return to constitutional government and would lay out a program to do so."

It was then that McNamara said he had given the Greek

Police Open Up On Rioters; Guard Called

By JAMES BONNEY
JACKSON, Miss. (AP)—Mississippi National Guardsmen and city police moved into the Jackson State College area last night behind shotgun fire in a move to put down a second night of rioting.

Screaming and yelling, a mob of 100 Negroes made repeated assaults on a police line, wounding one officer before firing started. On the fourth assault, police opened fire at the mob, wounding a Negro youth in the back.

After the youth was wounded, half-way between the police line and the mob, some of his companions advanced to him and yelled to officers, "He needs help."

"You get back," police shouted. "He's got all the help he needs."

National Guardsmen, who moved up, caught the mob from the rear and officers carried off the injured youth.

He was identified as Benjamin Brown, 22, of Jackson.

The guard troops came in with an armored personnel carrier and the mob let the men filter through. Then the students drifted back toward the college.

The highway patrol radioed for National Guard help after the mob sought to overrun a police barricade blocking them from moving toward downtown Jackson.

The Negro group hurled rocks and bottles at the patrol force, wounding Patrolman Lamar Weems.

OFF TO CAMP

Area National Guardsmen are off for Indiantown Gap Military Reservation this morning where they will undergo two weeks of basic Army training. They are scheduled to return in the afternoon of May 27. Warren Guardsmen Leave For Summer Training National Guardsmen from Warren and Corry units leave this morning for two weeks of summer training at Indiantown Gap Military Reservation.

Members of both units report to their armories at 7 a.m. today.

Warren and Corry units are part of the same company, so the address at camp for all area guardsmen will be:

Pvt. E2 (or other rank) John Doe, (serial no.) NG 00000000, Co. A, 1st Bn., 112th Inf., PARNC, IGMR, Annville, Pa., 17003.

Company A will return from camp the afternoon of May 27. The guardsmen will report to their armories at 7 a.m. the next day, a Sunday, for a full day's drill.

Warren guardsmen will march in Sheffield May 30, Memorial Day, except for a firing squad and color guard, who will take part in Warren ceremonies. Members of the Warren unit will report to their armory at 7 a.m. May 30. The battalion will bivouac at Lewinstown tonight, arriving at Indiantown Gap tomorrow. On the way home, they will bivouac at Clearfield.

Company A, under the command of Capt. Hilbert, an Erie resident, will receive training in squad and platoon tactics while at camp. During the first week of camp, the company will bivouac, moving to barracks the second week.

Most of the 28th Division, of which Company A is a part, will have three weeks of summer training this year.

2-Year-Old Boy Drowns in Tub

PITTSBURGH (AP) — A suburban Pittsburgh boy drowned yesterday in the bathtub of his home during a brief absence of his mother.

Police said Charles W. Bruckner, 2, of Richland Twp. and his 18-month-old sister were being given a bath by their mother. She left them to go downstairs for their robes, and when she returned the boy was face down in the water, police said.

Reds Attack U.S. Air Base; Combat Deaths Hit 9,681

(C) N. Y. Times News Service

SAIGON — Vietcong gunners shelled the major United States airbase at Bienhoa, 16 miles northeast of Saigon with 125 rounds of mortar, rockets and recoilless rifle fire.

A spokesman said six U.S. Air Force men were killed in the attack early today and 29 wounded in the 15-minute attack. There was also "moderate" damage to buildings, equipment and aircraft, the spokesman said.

At the same time, the Phuocvinh airstrip, 35 miles north of Saigon took 30 to 40 rounds of mortar fire, with no damage or casualties reported.

Signs of Struggle Within Red China

(C) N.Y. Times News Service

SAIGON — American combat deaths in Vietnam last week totaled 274, equaling the highest previous seven-day figure in the war, a military spokesman said yesterday. The number of wounded, 1,748, was the second highest on record.

In the intensifying air war, Thailand based air force pilots reported knocking out three anti-aircraft artillery emplacements near Dong Hoi Wednesday. Each site contained six weapons.

In the south, an Air Force F-100 was downed, apparently by ground fire in Binh Dinh Province west of Qui Nhon, the pilot was killed. In all, 507 sorties were flown over the republic.

At least two thirds of the dead and nearly half the wounded were members of two Marine battalions who were involved in bitter fighting for three hills near Khesanh.

There were several other sharp clashes elsewhere during the week in the country's five northernmost provinces which comprise the Marines' area of operations, but action tapered off elsewhere.

In the same period the Vietnamese army listed 212 men as killed in action, nearly three times the total of the previous week. The Vietnamese do not give their total of wounded.

The weekend ending March 25 also produced 274 American combat deaths. The record number of See WAR, Page A-2

The posters pictured the situation in Honan as tense following clashes in Kaifeng, Loyang Hsinhsiang and Chengchow, the latter Honan's capital city.
Honan, in the heart of the area upon which already hungry China depends for rice, is only one of a number of provinces caught up in confused fighting, according to the wall newspaper reports.

BULLETIN !

State Police of the Warren barracks early this morning were summoned to the Kinzua Dam where steady rains caused rock slides over Route 59. According to an unconfirmed report the situation was so critical around 1 a.m. that officials were afraid to go near the cliff which runs along Route 59 near the parking lot nearest the dam.

Warren Area to Benefit From Rt. 17 Expressway

By LES RICKEY

Warren County has a big stake in a $2.5 billion bond issue that its residents will never have a chance to vote on.

The bond issue is on the ballot in New York State's general election in November. If approved, the 10-year bond issue will pay for development of the Southern Tier Expressway in Western New York.

Governor Nelson Rockefeller made this point yesterday in Jamestown before a joint meeting of the Route 17 Association and the Jamestown Kiwanis Club. He said the bond issue is the key to all highway development in the state, which cannot be financed without it.

The Expressway—Route 17—has work underway or in the design stage from Binghamton to Lake Erie. It will take another $387 million to finance completion.

Already underway is a two-lane highway which runs from the Pennsylvania border near Route 62. It will nearly follow the route of the present Kiantone Road, which is the main route between Jamestown and Warren. Plans for the road include the possibility of development into a four-lane highway; right-of-way has been purchased for such development in the future, according to Buffalo District Public Works Engineer Norman Kraft, who spoke at yesterday's meeting.

The Kiantone Road connection, which would become State Route 62, would connect Warren to Route 17 with a four-lane highway. Plans of the Pennsylvania Highways Department call for expanding Route 62 to four lanes up to the New York State border. If the traffic warrants it, New York State will connect the four-lane Route 62 with Route 17 at Levant, N.Y.

ASKS ROAD SUPPORT

Governor Rockefeller (R), shakes hands with Gus Hagberg, secretary of the Jamestown Kiwanis, after the New York State chief executive called for support of a $2.5 billion bond issue yesterday. The governor, speaking at a meeting of the Kiwanis and Route 17 Association, said the bond issue was vital to the state's highway development program, which includes $387 million for 250 miles of Southern Tier Expressway construction from Binghamton to Lake Erie. ### Operation 'Mothballs' Expensive

WASHINGTON (AP) — Cost is a major factor holding up a decision on whether to recommission a World War II battleship for the Vietnam war, Pentagon sources said yesterday.

The current cost estimate reportedly comes to about $25 million to take out of mothballs one of four battleships in the reserve fleet and equip her with certain modern equipment.

Time is another factor. The sources said it would take nearly 18 months to get a 45,000-ton battleship in shape for shore bombardment operations off the North Vietnamese coast.

Defense Department officials said there has been no final decision on whether to reactivate a battleship.

Studies made by the Navy at the request of Defense Department officials are being analyzed, sources said.

Secretary of the Navy Paul H. Nitze is reported favoring the withdrawal of a battleship from the reserve fleet.

Sources said Adm. David McDonald, chief of naval operations, would prefer recommissioning two cruisers rather than one battleship.

The studies compare the firepower of battleships, cruisers and carrier-based aircraft.

Some time ago, defense officials asked the Navy for additional data, including comparative costs.

Some admirals in the Far East and powerful members of Congress have urged that at least one battleship be put to use in the Vietnam war.

The appeal lies in the nine 16-inch guns mounted by battleships — guns that can hurl a 2,000-pound projectile at shore targets.

The 16-inch shell outweighs the eight-inch shell fired by cruisers and the five-inch shells fired by destroyers by a wide margin.

Also, the 16-inch gun with a reach of about 19 miles has a longer range than either of the smaller guns.

Sources said that if a battleship is recommissioned, it likely will be the New Jersey but that this has not been finally determined. Rep. Richard S. Schweiker, R-Pa., said it is a logical candidate.

Thant Sees Initial Phase Of World War

By MAX HARRELSON
UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Secretary-General U Thant declared yesterday that a direct confrontation between the United States and Red China is inevitable if the present trend in the Vietnam war continues.

"I am afraid we are witnessing today the initial phase of World War III," the secretary-general told a luncheon of the U.N. Correspondents Association.

He compared the present period with the months before the World War I and II and said the parties involved are going through the same stages of psychological preparation.

Thant renewed his appeal for cessation of U.S. bombing of North Vietnam and declared that this is the only thing at present that can end the military escalation and lead to a negotiated settlement.

He disclosed that he now considers his earlier peace plans are dead. Neither side has accepted the proposals without reservations, he said, and he no longer regards his plans as being under consideration.

The secretary-general's initial proposals called for a cessation of the U.S. bombing of North Vietnam, a scaled reduction of military operations by both sides and the participation of the Viet Cong in peace negotiations.

The later plan, submitted March 14, called for a ceasefire to be followed by preliminary talks aimed at reconvening the 1954 Geneva Conference.

Thant said he was now simply pressing for an end of the bombing of North Vietnam.

To Support War

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Justice Michael Musmanno of the State Supreme Court said yesterday he would march tomorrow in a New York parade supporting the Vietnam War and urged fellow Pennsylvanians to join him.

He said that those who do "will be well compensated in the gratification they feel in sending a message throughout the world that America stands firmly behind our boys."

Rockefeller noted that $100 million is being spent on work underway on the Southern Tier Expressway, but the bond issue is the key to all highway development in New York. He said that without the bond issue, highway projects would have to be financed out of existing revenues, which already are earmarked for the rising costs of education, welfare, and Medicaid.

The governor said it is cheaper to finance roads through bond issues than to delay highway building or do it as funds are available. As an example, he said it would take 13 years to finance $100 million worth of roadways as funds become available. Rising construction costs of five per cent per year would push this cost to $134 million. By financing the road building with a bond issue, Rockefeller said, the program would take four years and cost $130 million.

Another area which would be financed by bond issues are airports, Rockefeller said, and they are "the key to economic development of any community."

"Airports today have a major relation to the economic development of communities," Rockefeller said. The governor said that for this reason, New York State has committed itself to a program of airport development along the Southern Tier and elsewhere in upstate New York. He said the plans call for New York State to provide 75 per cent of the cost for developing new facilities and provide matching funds of 25 per cent.

In Chautauque and Cattaraugus counties, the governor said, there are only two airports which are serviced by airlines and two general aviation airports. There is only one general aviation airport being planned at this time. The bond issue, Rockefeller said, would cure this ailment.

Warren residents attending yesterday's luncheon included George Templeton, Elbert Miller, James Blomquist, David Potter, and Charles Birmingham.

War

wounded, 1,874, was recorded the previous week. This period included several regional sized attacks by Viet Cong and North Vietnamese regiments and operation Junction City, the sweep through war Zone C that remains the largest American thrust of the war.

But while record enemy casualties were also claimed at that time, including 2,774 killed during the week ending March 25, last week's asserted toll of 1,903 was far smaller.

The enemy death toll represents the addition of claims by American, Vietnamese and allied troops, however, no breakdown is available, and the Vietnamese figures are often regarded as subject to considerable exaggeration.

The total allied death figure of 504 which included 18 "free world" troops, reduced the "kill ratio" for the week to 3.8 to one, one of the lowest in many months.

Since the arrival of the first advisers here, a total of 9,681 Americans have been killed in action, 3,037 since Jan. 1, and by unofficial count, 57,824 have been wounded.

On the war fronts, the Marines increased their count of North Vietnamese dead in the capture of Hill 110, 14 miles southwest of Hoian in Quang Nam Province Wednesday, to 117. Nineteen marines were listed as killed and 72 wounded. They were members of the Third Marines, the same regiment that captured the Khesanh hills.

Three Marines of the Fifth Regiment were killed and 17 wounded in the same area when they were bombed by what were described as "friendly" planes.

In the Anlao Valley in Binh Dinh Province, just south of the Marines operating area and often a battleground, units of the First Cavalry (airmobile) Division reported killing 16 enemy in two engagements.

Closer to Saigon, the spokesman said, an estimated battalion of Viet Cong was spotted by the pilot of an observation plane in Binh Duong province, 30 miles from the capital. Artillery and 24 air strikes were called in. The enemy death toll was put at 53.

minister the warning about a possible American military aid cutoff if this were not done. Previously, Washington had said that its military and economic aid programs to Greece were "under review" as a result of the right-wing military takeover in Athens last month.

When McNamara was asked if he had mentioned the military aid program, he replied: "I told (Spandidakis) it would be very difficult for us to proceed with our military aid program unless there was an indication that his government did tend to preserve the constitutional guarantees."

Two Victims of Traffic Mishap Buried in Texas

Robert Charles Sotkovski, 26, a native of Ludlow and a former resident of Sheffield, and his father, Joseph, 49, of Midland, Tex., were killed Sunday in an automobile accident near Garden City, Tex.

They were repairing a flat tire when they were struck by an oncoming vehicle. The former Sheffield resident was pronounced dead at the scene and his father died two hours later at Midland.

Funeral services for the younger Sotkovski were held Tuesday, May 9, 1967 at Marble Hall Church of Christ in Garden City, Tex. He is survived by his widow; a son, Robert Jr.; and a daughter, Shauna.

Funeral services for his father were conducted Wednesday afternoon at Thomas Funeral Home, Midland with the Rev. Thomas R. Kennedy officiating. Burial was in Fairview Cemetery, there.

He is survived by his widow, Ruth Westmoreland Sotkovski; another son, Jack of Coleen, Tex.; his mother, Harriet Sotkovski of Ludlow; two sisters: Mrs. John Sevanick of Sheffield and Mrs. Mary Giambola of Long Island; a brother, Frank Sotkovski of Gowanda and six step-children.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Civil Aeronautics Board has set for hearing Aug. 15 its inquiry into possible realignment of the Allegheny Airlines route.

Examiner Milton H. Shapiro said the proceeding will consider the need to give Allegheny authority to:

1. Operate nonstop between Pittsburgh and Buffalo, Pittsburgh and Baltimore, Pittsburgh and Hartford, Conn., Springfield, Mass., Pittsburgh and New York City-Newark, and Pittsburgh and Boston — and between Cleveland and Detroit on schedules originating or ending east of Cleveland.
2. Provide service either nonstop or by intermediate points, without change of planes, between

Vo-Tech Study Is Planned By State

ERIE, Pa. (AP) — The State Board for Vocational Education announced plans yesterday to make a comprehensive study of vocational and technical education in Pennsylvania.

The board, winding up a two day state Board of Education meeting here, said it had authorized selection of a consulting firm to make the study.

Dr. John W. Struck, director of the Department of Public Instruction's Bureau of Vocational, Technical and Continuing Education, said the study will be under the general supervision of the department's new research coordinating unit for vocational and technical education.

He said the study will be conducted over an 18-month period beginning Aug. 1 and will encompass both secondary and post secondary education levels.

Purpose of the study will be to improve planning procedures.

The Board of Education also put itself on record in support of mandatory kindergartens for all public schools in Pennsylvania, though it did not go on record for compulsory attendance at these classes.

In other action, the board directed the superintendent of public instruction to "take all necessary steps to commit funds" for a study of off-campus centers of higher education.

tween Allentown, Bethlehem, Easton, Pa., and Cleveland, Detroit, Buffalo and Philadelphia.

3. Operate with two intermediate stops between Detroit and New York-Newark, and with one intermediate stop between Detroit and Philadelphia-Camden, Detroit and Washington, Detroit and Baltimore, Cleveland and Philadelphia, Cleveland and Baltimore, and Cleveland and Washington.
4. Serve Jamestown, N.Y., and Bradford and Oil City-Franklin, Pa., on other routes in addition to the service now provided.

Shapiro said the proceeding also will look into the need to:

1. Authorize Lake Central Airlines to serve Oil City-Franklin on its north-south route between Erie, Pa., and Charleston, W. Va., and to operate nonstop and no change of plane service between Pittsburgh and Buffalo, or between Pittsburgh and Baltimore.
2. Enable Mohawk Airlines to serve Bradford, Oil City-Franklin and Jamestown, and to operate nonstop between Pittsburgh and Boston and between Pittsburgh and Springfield.

3. Grant Northwest Airlines two new routes, between Pittsburgh and New York-Newark and between Pittsburgh and Boston.
4. Authorize American Airlines to operate between Pittsburgh and Boston as well as between Pittsburgh and New York-Newark.

Defends Selection Of NAA

(C) N.Y. Times News Service
WASHINGTON — James E. Webb, the Space Agency administrator, defended again yesterday the selection in 1961 of North American Aviation, Inc., for the prime Apollo space-craft contract, despite an evaluation board's recommendation of another company.

North American, Webb said, "offered the greatest experience in developing high-performance manned flight systems and the lowest cost."

Webb issued the statement to defend the selection and explain the manner in which it was made. In congressional testimony this week it was disclosed for the first time that the Martin Company was recommended by a technical review board, but that Webb and his senior officials selected North American instead.

Webb conceded that the proposals of two companies "were rated highest" by a source evaluation board composed of engineers of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration. He said North American was one of the companies, but did not mention how it was rated in comparison with Martin's proposal.

Testifying before the Senate Space Committee on April 17, Webb said that North American had been the board's recommended company. On Tuesday, before the same panel, he admitted under questioning that the board had rated Martin's proposal higher on the basis of a technical evaluation.

Martin, a division of the Martin Marietta Corporation, produced the Titan rocket used to launch the Gemini astronauts. Webb contended in his statement yesterday that the work of the board "was not rejected or discarded."

"It was used," he said, "as the basis for a more extensive and detailed examination than the board had performed."

In clarifying its revised plans for the Apollo spacecraft's breathing system, the Space Agency explained yesterday that pure oxygen will be used in orbit and probably while the vehicle is on the launching pad as well.

But equipment is being installed, an agency spokesman said, so that ordinary air could be substituted for pure oxygen when the Apollo is on the ground if further tests prove that it would significantly lessen the fire hazard.

Jamestown Girl Hurt in Crash

JAMESTOWN — An accident yesterday afternoon in front of the C.C. Ring School on Buffalo st., sent 18-year-old Mary B. Drew of 318 Crossman st. to WCA Hospital.

She was treated in the emergency room for facial cuts and bruises and later released.

The injured girl was a passenger in a car being operated by Michael G. Gilbert of Gerry, N.Y. According to Jamestown Police the Gilbert car collided with an auto driven by Mary L. Dahlgren of 418 Crossman st. when the Dahlgren auto was leaving the school parking lot.

Neither driver was hurt and no charges were placed.

Academy Appointees Announced

By HUGH FLEMING
TMO Washgtn Correspondent
WASHINGTON—Congressman Albert Johnson announced yesterday the selection of four appointees from his district to United States service academies.

Chosen for the naval academy was David C. Poyer of 2½ Bagley Alley, Bradford. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles L. Poyer.

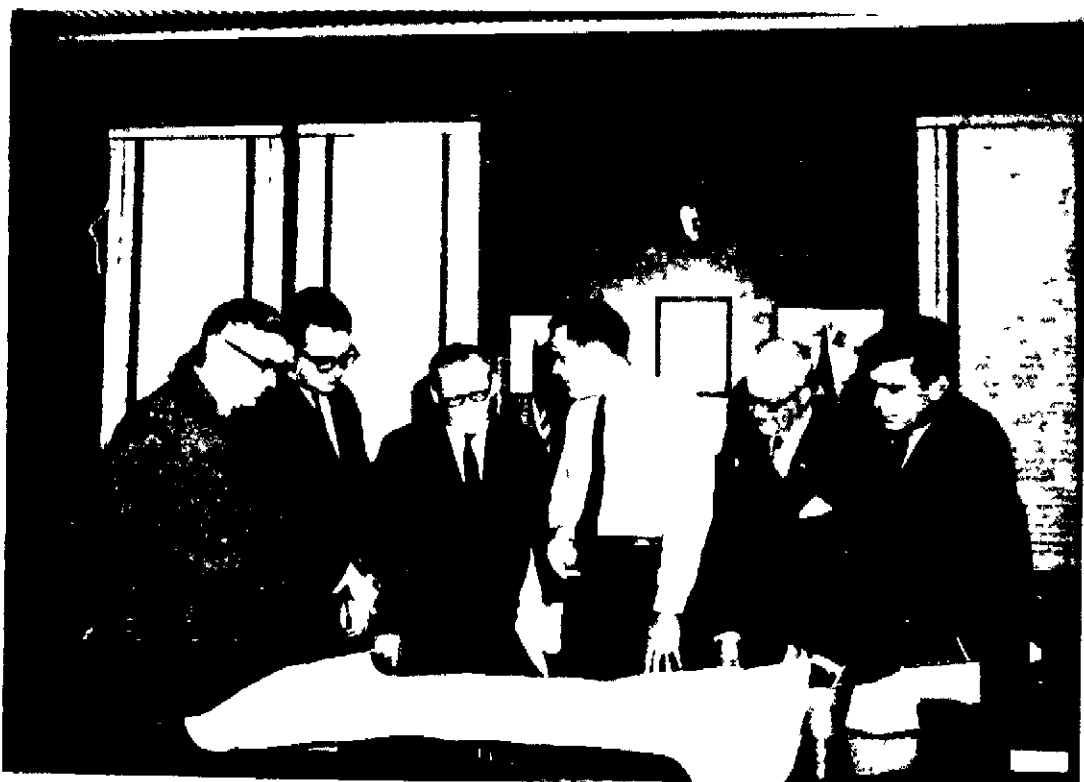

Selected for the Air Force Academy were E. Morgan (Corky) Greenwood III of 495 Quaker Hill rd., Warren, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest M. Greenwood II. His appointment was announced in this paper earlier.

Harry F. Albright of RD 2, Howard, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Leo M. Confer, Stevin R. Hoover, 1409 Chestnut st., Franklin, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Russell H. Hoover.

Johnson emphasized that the selection of these young men was the result of competitive examinations. Eighteen young men were nominated to take the competitive examinations for the one vacancy at the Naval Academy and two vacancies at the Air Force Academy. Congressman Johnson did not have a vacancy this year at the Military Academy.

Mr. Johnson stated that for 1968 he will have one vacancy at the Air Force Academy, and one at the Naval Academy and two at West Point. In order to fill these vacancies, he is welcoming applications from all interested young men in the 23rd district.

The congressman further stated he will receive applications for admittance to the Coast Guard Academy and the Merchant Marine Academy.

DISCUSS HIGHWAY PLANS

Highway development in the county scheduled for future years was outlined Wednesday to representatives of interested groups in the area. State Secretary of Highways Robert Bartlett addressed the local steering group.

Bartlett Sympathetic To County's Road Plans

A delegation from Warren County met with Robert Bartlett, secretary of highways, Wednesday to discuss plans for future highway development in this area.

According to William Clinger Jr., who heads an informal steering committee composed of representatives of groups concerned with highway development, the delegation was very impressed with Secretary Bartlett's grasp of highway problems in the county and his determination to expedite the solution to the problems.

Clinger stated that Bartlett was sympathetic with long range plans now being developed by the steering committee and recognizes the need to speed up construction of projects which have already been approved, such as the Warren by-pass. He realizes the problem of coping with traffic generated by the Kinzua Dam.

Some of the long range projects under consideration include construction of an improved highway east of U.S. Route 219, expansion of Route 62 North into a four-lane highway to connect with the Southern Tier Expressway near Jamestown; and making Route 6 into a four-lane highway from Warren to Interstate Highway 79 (Pittsburgh-Erie expressway). The meeting with Secretary Bartlett was arranged by Representative William C. Fuelhart. In addition to Fuelhart and Clinger, those attending were state senator Richard C. Frame, Robert Peterson and Karl Pierson.

Sergeant From New York State Wounded in War

SILVER CREEK, N.Y. — A Marine from nearby Irving, Chautauque County, was wounded in Vietnam fighting last Thursday and is in serious condition aboard the hospital ship USS Sanctuary, it was learned Tuesday.

Staff Sgt. William T. Consdale, a Marine for the past 12 years, was struck by hostile fire. He was air evacuated to the hospital ship.

The marine's mother, Mrs. Mildred Consdale, Mechanic st., Irving, was notified Tuesday night that her son had been injured.

Sgt. Consdale was with the First Battalion, Third Marine Regiment when injured.

Niagara Falls Has 4th Slide In 36 Years

NIAGARA FALLS, N.Y. (AP) — A large section of Prospect Point, a favorite spot for a close-up view of the American Falls, tumbled into the Niagara River gorge yesterday with a roar "like a giant thunderclap." An estimated total of 100 tons of rock broke away from the crest between the American Falls and a 282-foot-high observation tower. Police said additional slides were possible.

No one was reported injured as the falls experienced its fourth slide in 36 years.

Because of a steady rain, police said, no tourists were in the immediate area.

Joseph Ognibene, a photographer for the Niagara Falls Gazette, was one of the few witnesses. He sped to the tower when alerted to the possibility of a slide.

"I heard the rock cracking and crumbling," he said. "Then larger and larger pieces of rock began to fall. Finally the whole thing gave way."

As the rock broke loose, he said, there was "a big rumble — just like a loud clap of thunder."

Ognibene, perched on a window cleaner's scaffold raised above a rail on the tower, photographed the slide.

After the rock had settled, observers estimated the gap to be 30 feet wide, 35 to 40 feet in vertical depth, and 15 to 20 feet in horizontal depth.

Shortly after a geologist for the Army Engineers inspected the rock-slide site, the Niagara Frontier State Park Commission ordered the observation tower closed until further notice. The rock slide was about 30 yards south of the tower. Sources said they believed the tower was not in any danger.

Britain Makes Bid To Join the EEC

(C) N.Y. Times News Service
BRUSSELS — Sir James Marjoribanks walked into room 610 of the Palais des Congress in downtown Brussels yesterday morning with a 63-word letter formally launching Britain's second effort in six years to join the European Economic Community.

Fifteen minutes later came the delegation from the Republic of Ireland with a similar mission.

Last night the Danish delegation came to file its application and join the Queue. Later, Norway is expected to apply.

The British ambassador to the European communities brushed past reporters and photographers into the oval, yellow carpeted room where Renat van Elslande, a Fleming, who is Belgium's Minister for European Affairs, was waiting to receive him.

It was 9:03 a.m. when the letter from British Prime Minister Harold Wilson was handed over in the presidential office to Van Elslande, current president of the EEC Council of Ministers.

"It's a nice day," said Sir James. Van Elslande agreed. A second letter was given to Van Elslande declaring that Britain was applying for atomic membership in the European Atomic Energy Community. Van Elslande is also president of the Euratom Council of Ministers.

After a brief conversation with reporters in which he said Britain was prepared to open negotiations next month, Sir James left.

Then came the Irish, led by Ambassador Sean Morrissey, chief of the Irish Mission in Brussels, with Prime Minister Jack Lynch's letter of application for membership in the two communities.

Ireland is motivated by her desire to preserve agricultural markets in the community. She sells cattle, beef, mutton, lamb and dairy products.

Hit by Thieves

BEAVER FALLS, Pa. (AP) — The motel room of a vacationing New York couple has been burglarized and jewels and cash valued at about $4,000 were stolen. Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Mott of Latham, N.Y., reported the theft Wednesday night when they returned from a visit with friends near here.

Vote 'Yes' May 16

(Questions and answers on state Constitutional Reform Questions as prepared by the League of Women Voters.)

1. "If this rain keeps up people may not bother to vote next Tuesday."

"Sure, apathy is the real enemy of good government. Weather or not, the nine questions on each ballot — printed above the candidates' names — do deserve a "Yes" vote. If these questions fail to pass, you are left with our present state constitution, an antiquated document which is cluttered with obsolete provisions and statutory detail that encourage inefficiency in state government."

2. "The ninth question on my ballot about a convention to suggest to the voters improvements in four areas..."

"These four would update the justice-of-the-peace system, strengthen local government, guarantee legislative reapportionment after every ten-year census, and improve state finance. The convention is forbidden to tamper with the uniformity clause prohibiting a state income tax."

3. "Would a constitutional convention do away with the Justices of the Peace?"

"Not necessarily at all. The system could be just revised and improved. Even the J.P.s admit there might be room for improvements. The convention could suggest an improved system for this minor judiciary. Whether we would get improvements would depend on the voters."

"It is good to remember that the Justice of the Peace is called the "court of first impression," having the greatest direct impact on citizens because more people appear before them than all of the other courts combined."

Update and Improve

One of the chief benefits Pennsylvanians could expect from voter approval of the Constitutional reform questions on the May 16 Primary ballot is the updating and improving of the State Legislature.

Four main areas of improvement are contained in the questions before the voters:

(1) The Legislature Would Become a Continuing Body For Two-Year Periods.

Presently, when the Legislature adjourns after its first year, it ceases to exist until it goes back into session the following year. Question 2-A on the ballot would make it a continuing body for the two years, just as the U.S. Congress is. This means that even though adjourned, the Legislature's committees would continue to exist and could spend otherwise wasted months working on the next year's programs. Along with allowing more careful preparation of legislation in committees, this would also make it possible for the Legislature to get its work done faster when it did go into session.

Also, in a continuing body, bills awaiting action between sessions would not have to be reintroduced as is now the case at considerable waste of time and money.

And members would be able to pre-introduce bills while the Legislature was in recess, once again making it possible for more thorough study before the Legislature reconvened.

The public and the press constantly criticize Harrisburg lawmakers for the slowness with which they get their work done after a session gets underway. Making the Legislature a continuing body would go a long way toward streamlining the present 19th Century pace at which the lawmakers are forced to work.

(2) The Legislature Would Be Able To Pass General Legislation Every Year, Instead of Every Other Year.

Presently, the Legislature can pass laws other than appropriation measures only in odd-numbered years. In even-numbered years, no matter how urgent the public problem, nothing can be done about it unless the expensive and cumbersome process of calling a special session is resorted to by the Governor.

Nine "yes" votes on May 16 would change this antiquated system, once again modeling the Legislature after the U. S. Congress and allowing general legislation to be passed in any year.

(3) The Procedures Under Which The Legislature Conducts Its Business Would Be Streamlined.

The constitutional requirements dealing with the form and printing of bills would be modernized, thus making the lawmaking process far less costly and clumsy.

The old provision that before passage bills must be read six times in their entirety (three times in each House) would be repealed (unless 25 percent of the members requested the readings). In fact, the Legislature generally ignores this Constitutional requirement, otherwise it would never get anything done since many pieces of legislation would take hours just to be read. Without repealing this section, however, a disgruntled member could continue to threaten to have the reading requirement enforced as a method to get his way on some special axe he is grinding.

(4) The Constitutional Convention Would Be Able To Recommend Procedures For Enforcing The Constitution's Requirement That The Legislature Apportion Itself Every Ten Years.

The Constitution presently requires that each House of the Legislature reapportion itself following the census every ten years. The Constitution, however, does not specify what happens if the Legislature fails to act. The State Senate, therefore, went from 1923 until 1966 without reapportionment. Then, the Senate still didn't act and the job was done by the courts.

The Constitutional convention would be able to come up with recommendations for putting teeth in the reapportionment requirement. Voters would then have the opportunity to approve or reject the convention's suggestion before it became part of the Constitution.

JIM BISHOP

Sleep Is a Waste of Time

Sleep is a burglar. It robs each man of a third of his life. A human aged 60 has lived 40 years. His joys, his sorrows, his learning, his adventures have been jammed into a smaller space than he imagines. He courts the robber with fatigue, darkness, prayer and pills. The eyes lose sight, hearing diminishes, the heart slows, blood pressure falls, muscles relax, and the brain floods itself with incomprehensible images.

Bishop

In a score of laboratories, science has been busy investigating sleep. They know a lot about it, but they do not know precisely what it is. They know that the mind induces unconsciousness, but the mind does not sleep. It is in constant motion with memories and images, aspirations and fears in a madman's movie.

Thousands of volunteers have been wired for sleep with electrical leads that detect brain impulse, eyeball motion, nerve stimulation, in addition to the functions of bodily organs. Each person, unwittingly, has his own pre-sleep ritual. Once undressed, he walks to the bathroom, the scratching, the trip to the clothes closet, the shaping of the pillow, the pulling down of the bedclothes, are all prescribed.

In an identical situation, an infant pulls the lobe of an ear with one hand, and sticks the thumb of the other in her mouth. Behind closed lids, the eyes dart back and forth as though watching tennis. Often, the baby doesn't want the door closed, because it spells isolation at a time of terror.

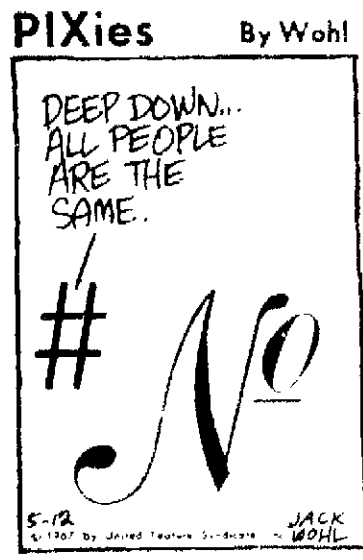

Many adults, fearing sleep, become more alert and busier as bedtime approaches. They fight sleep. Gaer Luce and Julius Segal, who wrote a book called "Sleep" (Lancer), claim that one of every three persons sleeps nude. Some must, because they are such busy sleepers that pajamas become twisted and uncomfortable.

Efficient people panic if sleep does not come. They count up the time lost. They feel certain that they will be listless the next day. When unconsciousness finally comes, they go into a deeper sleep than normal, and the body compresses complete rest into a shorter time. Winston Churchill cared not how little sleep he got at night, so long as he had a full hour nap in the afternoon. Harry Truman, when he felt fatigued, excused himself from meetings, removed his shoes, and dropped off on a couch.

Through habit, the body puts itself on a 24-hour schedule. Arbitrarily, it decides to snip the wires of consciousness between the hours, say, of 11 p.m. and 7 a.m. Atavistically, it assumes the movie.

Tunnel It Called Home

In this age of specialization, it would be hard to find anyone with the special makeup of the old-time naturalist. He was not a scientist, but he had a scientific bent. There was a little bit of Thoreau in his makeup, for he retained a child-like sense of wonderment.

Stotz

He would be filled to bursting with objects that he had picked up in his woodland rambles.

He enjoyed everything in the out-of-doors, but like a jack-of-all-trades he was master of none. He was a hobbyist who was attuned to the world of nature. Above all, though, he was a happy man.

He tramped this land before it was cluttered with the cast-off debris of civilization. The air that he breathed was still pure, and the streams that he walked beside were unpolluted.

At first thought, he might be considered to have been the fore-runner of today's conservationist. But conservation had not yet come of age, and the old-time naturalist had probably never even heard of this newly-coined word.

Webster defines a "naturalist" as "a person who studies nature, especially by direct observation of animals and plants." Of the tens of thousands of persons who have climbed onto the conservation-and-wagon, very few can be called as naturalists. Many of them have axes to grind, and their interests in the world of Nature are very narrow. Others aren't conservationists at all, but are spokesmen for special interest groups.

J. Henri Fabre was in many ways a naturalist of the old school.

Of all the old-time naturalists, Fabre was the most skilled in applying the powers of direct observation. At the edge of the village of Serignan in southern France, he purchased a small plot of stony ground that was to become his field laboratory for the next 30 years. Armed with a hand lens, he found enough material in the jungle of weeds in this little plot of ground to fill seven volumes of his "Souvenirs Entomologiques."

I too found France rich in insect life, and armed like Fabre with a pocket lens I studied the insects that alighted on the flowers in my daughter's garden near Changy in the valley of the Loire. I found that if I was to emulate Fabre I would have to cast aside all dignity. That I did so is quite obvious in a diary entry covering a few moments of my visit to France.

"With my magnifying glass in hand, I got on all-fours and examined a black and red beetle whose wing coverings were marked like a Zulu warrior's ceremonial shield. Actually, the markings formed a stylized picture of a human face. On a red background was a triangular-shaped nose of black, a black mouth, two black eyes, and a black forehead. Then busied myself hovering over a circular hole in the ground that was about the diameter of a pin head. The head of a black ant, with bright eyes and quivering antennae, kept poking out only to retreat into the dark tunnel it called home."

At the third level of descent, the eyeballs become sightless. The lids may remain half open and the sleeper does not see light. The body temperature is reduced. The organs slow their work. The ears will carry a loud sound to the brain, but not a soft one.

At the lowest descent, the features suddenly relax completely. The jaw slacks, the mouth opens a little, a hint of a snore comes up from the back of the throat. Saliva sometimes falls off the edge of the lips. The sleeper is at the bottom of healthy unconsciousness, but, if a leg itches, his hand will automatically move to the right place to scratch it, and his sleep will move back up to stage two or one.

Few sleepers remain in the Delta—fourth stage—of repose more than 90 minutes. In it, the muscles are so flaccid as to appear out of condition. Little by little, he will come up to stage three, remain awhile, climb to two, and sometimes to one. Here, he is conscious that he is in bed, but has no desire to awaken. Three or four hours later, he may descend again all the way down.

The average sleep pattern shows a quick descent down to stage four, and a gradual rise in the next six hours toward wakefulness. The poorest sleepers seldom get below stage one. They take sedatives, or tranquilizers, or liquor to induce artificial sleep. My mother slept so lightly that she knew when any of the children went to the bathroom in the small hours.

Candidly, I feel that sleep is a waste of time. I wish I could remain awake every minute of every day. The long sleep to come is enough.

"That doesn't apply to lady Republicans . . . !"

PEARSON & ANDERSON

Hampers War on Hunger

WASHINGTON—In a world plagued with hunger, the bureaucrats inside the Agriculture Department are battling to reduce this country's wheat acreage.

They argue that a wheat cutback will push up prices and bring contentment to the farms, that contented farmers are more likely to vote next year to keep the Democrats in power.

This is callous reasoning at a time when the nation needs every bushel of wheat the farmers can grow to fight famine in India and to keep up our own dwindling grain reserves. The national wheat backlog has dropped below a seven-month supply, which is considered dangerously low.

The backstage debate over wheat acreage has become almost a family squabble between former Minnesotans. Secretary of Agriculture Orville Freeman, a onetime Minnesota governor, has been pushed by his advisors into a position favoring acreage cuts.

He is vigorously opposed by Vice President Hubert Humphrey, a former Senator from Minnesota, who wants to boost wheat production. Supporting the Vice President is his former Senate aide, Herb Waters, who now heads the war-on-hunger program.

Freeman has pointed out in private conversations that the farmers, troubled over falling wheat prices, planted less than half of the 30 per cent increases in wheat acreage they were granted for the past season.

The solution is not to cut back acreage, Humphrey has responded, but to increase the incentive for farmers. He has urged President Johnson to ask Congress for higher wheat subsidies.

The President, a Populist at heart, is emotionally committed to the war against hunger. He was briefed on the program at a National Security Council meeting last year by David Bell, then Foreign Aid Administrator, who described the hunger in the world and the need for American food.

When Bell finished, the President slapped the table.

"We need to grow more wheat!" he declared emphatically.

Note: Herb Waters discussed the world food problem in the Vatican the other day with Pope Paul, who has been critical of the Vietnam war. Waters told him the American aim was not only to help feed the hungry but to teach them how to grow more food to feed themselves. "We are allies in THIS war," Pope said with a smile, referring to the war on hunger as opposed to the Vietnam war.

The Pentagon, contradicting a Hanoi claim that 88,000 Americans were killed in Vietnam during the first nine months of 1966, charged that the figures were considerably inflated.

But the totals put out by the Defense Department—3,558 Americans dead and 41,000 communitis killed—are also padded. The truth is that almost all Vietnamese killed in action, if they aren't wearing South Vietnamese uniforms, are lumped together as enemy dead. On occasion, this has even included women and children.

One combat soldier, whose name charitably is omitted, wrote to this column about the practice in his division.

"The daily enemy-killed-in-action figures," he charged, "can be trusted as much as a paper bag can be trusted to store water. Everyone killed who is not in a friendly uniform is counted as an enemy KIA."

"On one mission, I saw two unarmed men scamper from under some rocks and attempt to run away. One was shot through the heart; the other had his leg nearly severed by an M-16 round."

"The former was listed as an enemy KIA. Maybe he was. Maybe he was a villager who hid from the enemy just as he tried to hide from us."

"On another mission, a woman killed by aerial rocket artillery, fired from fire-breathing choppers, was likewise listed as an enemy KIA."

The Senate Republican Policy Committee's controversial report on the Vietnam war is being suppressed by its chairman, Sen. Bourke Hickenlooper, R-Iowa, who has rejected several offers from private publishing houses to reprint the report.

While he has been grandly turning down all publishers, however, Public Affairs Press has rushed the report into print without bothering to ask permission. Editor M. B. Schnapper contends that the report, prepared at the taxpayers' expense, is a public document.

Sen. Steve Young, D-Ohio, the spryest elder statesman in the Senate, has just written a penetrating diagnosis of Central Intelligence for Playboy magazine. It's published this month among all the undraped females. The CIA, incidentally, no longer uses sexy gals as spies.

Rep. Fred Schwengel, R-Iowa, who has promoted a color booklet for $1, isn't making any money from it. Proceeds go to the Capitol Historical Society, which Schwengel heads. Some of Schwengel's colleagues have been critical over the sale of the book through Capitol guides. . . . A Louisville police court held an Ecclesiastical priest, Rev. Charles Brandeis Tachau, on $5,000 bond in the recent open-house demonstrations, while holding three Nazi-American demonstrators from Chicago for only $2,000.

The Department of Internal Affairs is another illustration of zip and zing—with most of its reports backdating two or three years. But then again—it's only taxpayer monies that are being spent for these near-useless antiques.

ONE FOR THE BOOKS—It may come as a surprise to many but the fact is that federal allotments totaling $75 million to Pennsylvania under the Library Services and Construction Act for 1967 is the third largest in the nation, according to the Department of Public Instruction. Which state will receive the largest chunk? New York—but it also provides the most matching funds.

Q. Where is your cost of living heading now?
A. It's heading up to the highest peaks ever—and most important, it's heading up at an accelerating pace.
Q. How soon will the rise accelerate?
A. In the weeks and months immediately ahead.
Q. Why is this the outlook?
A. Because recent declines in the prices of food and of some important raw materials are coming to an end and many of the declines will turn into price increases soon. The declines in food prices particularly have hidden the fact that prices of most other goods and services have continued to rise, and when food prices start to rise again, the basic upward direction of our cost of living will re-emerge in full force.

Costs of services are climbing relentlessly ever upward. The costs of medical care services are up a shocking 9.3 per cent over a year ago—and there is no hope for anything but further increases in these costs in the foreseeable future. The costs of household services, outside of rent, have jumped 6 per cent in the past 12 months and there's also no hope for any retreat here. The cost of transportation is up almost 4 per cent and so are the costs of such services as personal care, reading, recreation, and again, there's no sign of any change in trend.

With no end of Vietnam war pressures in sight and with an end to the declines in food prices clearly in sight, the pace of rise in overall consumer prices will accelerate.

The biggest wage increases in a full decade are pushing up business costs which in turn are pushing up prices to us which in turn are adding to wage pressures, which in turn, etc. As Gardner Ackley, chairman of the President's Council of Economic Advisors, told the Society of American Business Writers early this month, "the inevitable spiraling pressure of prices on costs and costs on prices could roll painfully far before reasonable stability is finally restored." And Ackley openly admitted that whether this grim prospect can be averted is "far from assured."

Q. How much is the cost of living likely to rise in 1967?
A. Measured by the Labor Department's Consumer Price Index, at least 2 1/2 per cent and the rise could move into the 3 per cent range. To indicate the acceleration this implies for coming months, this index has risen only 0.3 per cent in the past three months. Also to indicate the contrast between 1966-1967 and our remarkable 1958-65 record for price stability, here are the percentage changes in the Consumer Price Index, December-to-December, from 1957 to now:

Year Pct. Rise Living Costs Year Pct. Rise Living Costs
1957 +3.0 1963 +1.7
1958 +1.7 1964 +1.1
1959 +1.5 1965 +2.0
1960 +1.6 1966 +3.3
1961 +0.6 1967 (est.) +2.5-3
1962 +1.2

Q. Can anything be done to stop this?
A. Sure, but not at a "price" the majority in this country is willing to pay. This "price" would be an economic downturn of sufficient proportions to force cutbacks in the demand for goods and services and to send unemployment into a major upturn. An economic downturn of this magnitude would stop the spiral virtually overnight. It also would result in nationwide bankruptcies, home foreclosures and suffering which can't be translated into dollars-and-cents terms. Today's generation in the United States won't "stand still" for this.

Q. Will, then, anything be done to stop this?
A. Whatever will be done won't be enough. As for direct price-wage controls, these wouldn't work and couldn't work except in a limited period of gravest emergency. The Administration officially rejects direct price-wage controls, even assuming the Vietnam war escalates from here and the wage-price spiral accelerates from here.

Q. What does this mean to your dollar's buying power?
A. The dollar which bought 100¢ worth of goods and services in 1957-59 will be buying only about 85¢ worth in the final months of 1967. The dollar which was worth 100¢ in 1939 will be worth a minor 40¢ or so in the marketplace when 1967 ends.

Q. How do you protect yourself against this?
A. Read Monday's column.

Spreading The Word

HARRISBURG — Reporter's Notebook:

SPREADING THE WORD—The general consensus around Capitol Hill these days is that any voter heading to the polls Tuesday who doesn't know that nine constitutional questions are on the ballot just can't read!

Unquestionably more feature material has been printed on the eight constitutional amendments and the question of whether a constitutional convention shall be called than ever before on a non-candidate issue. As one legislative leader expressed it:

"Seems as though more space has been devoted to yarns and series of articles on the constitutional issues than space for the comic strips—and that's really something! More seriously though, the newspapers of Pennsylvania undeniably have done an outstanding job in covering the issues thoroughly, completely and in depth. If the voters don't know what it's all about, it's no one's fault but their own."

(It might be worth noting that Tuesday's primary election will also feature local candidates for office in addition to the constitutional issues!)

TIN-PAN ALLEY FIESTA—Nary a general session of Pennsylvania's Legislature fritters into the history books that at least one proposal isn't made calling for adoption of an official "State Song."

The current session is no exception. In fact in this session so far five bills have been introduced proposing the adoption of four different songs. (In the case of one song, no less than two bills were introduced—each bill bearing the names of different sponsors!)

One bill proposes adopting the song "Pennsylvania" by Gertrude Martin Rotner, another suggests the song "The Woods of Penn" by Charles W. Rasely and Ben Kizer, while a third, "Beautiful Pennsylvania" by Mary Pirozzi and LeRue Dickson enjoys the backing of no less than two bills!

But perhaps equally thrilling, from a legislative standpoint at least, is the song written by Cyra G. Renwick, of Ligonier in Westmoreland County, "Pennsylvania Our Constitution State," which carries among the sponsors one Rep. William F. Renwick from Elk County—no relation whatsoever to composer.

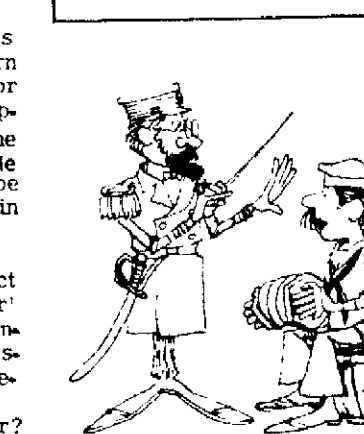

BUREAUCRACY AT ITS FINEST!—The efficiency with which Pennsylvania's State Government functions unquestionably is a marvel, the only trouble is that if private industry functioned along the same efficiency line there wouldn't be any private industry!

Statistical reports of some of the departments on Capitol Hill are a prime example of this glowing up-and-at-tem approach. To illustrate: recently the State Department of Agriculture issued what it calls a "Pennsylvania Agricultural Census," detailing crop production, farm facilities and equipment, livestock and poultry products, etc., broken down by counties. It's an impressive 70-page tome, but the interesting part about this "current" production is that it's for the year—1964!

The Department of Internal Affairs is another illustration of zip and zing—with most of its reports backdating two or three years. But then again—it's only taxpayer monies that are being spent for these near-useless antiques.

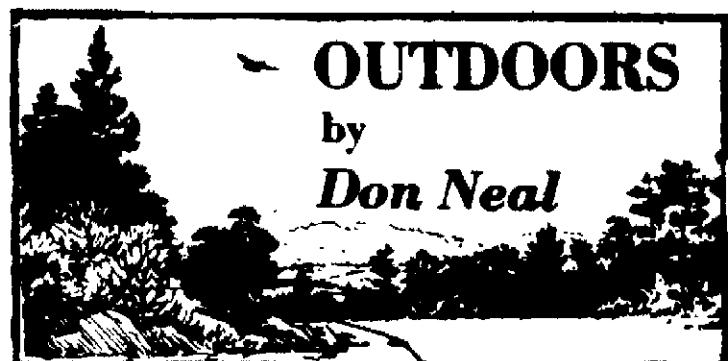

ONE FOR THE BOOKS—It may come as a surprise to many but the fact is that federal allotments totaling $75 million to Pennsylvania under the Library Services and Construction Act for 1967 is the third largest in the nation, according to the Department of Public Instruction. Which state will receive the largest chunk? New York—but it also provides the most matching funds.

The Apathy Party

Les Rickey, our city editor who claims to head up the Apathy Party in Warren County and guides its political destinies, has always claimed that the only reason his party isn't on the ballot is because they never get around to filing their petitions. Besides, Les states, if they were on the ballot the party members would never get to the polls until two days after an election.

Les, it seems, would like to have us believe that the Apathy Party in the county is an organization that won't develop into a threat to the Democrats and Republicans until some time in the far away future.

I'm not so sure about this! In fact, I'm ready right now to make the claim that members of the Apathy Party have infiltrated our borough offices, our county offices, those of the state and federal agencies, and even the leadership of our service and civic organizations. They can be found in positions of authority at every turn.

Further than this, they are able to maintain themselves in these high positions through the support of a wide-spread grassroots membership among the ordinary citizens of the county. The most efficient tool employed to keep the party members in line and perpetuate the present leadership is a running barrage of pretty speeches, appointment of committees that never function, promises of immediate action, blaming others for the failures, producing maps and architect drawings, and covering the whole bit with copious news releases. In most cases, even the news releases are outdated by the time they reach the news media.

It would be unfair to my fellow workers, I suppose, if I exposed the insidious workings of the Apathy Party by citing specific cases and directing public attention to their areas of greatest control. After all it isn't my intention to do an expose.

However, I am going to set forth some of the particular things I would like to see getting some fast action in the near future, and threaten the Apathy Party with more precise "revelations" if this action isn't forthcoming.

As my personal interests are centered on such things as recreation, tourism, conservation, and those facets of these interests that offer an outstanding opportunity for economic development, I will stick to them -- and hope for the best.

For one thing, I would like to see contractors held more to the set "completion dates" once construction on a facility is started. Too often delays are being shrugged off as "just one of those things." The fact that the public is being denied the use of the facility seems to be of little interest to the controlling officials.

I would also like to see our secondary road system kept in better condition and further developed than it presently is. These roads are highly favored by our visitors who appreciate their rural-scenic beauty more than we realize. And when our visitors are meandering along these backcountry roads they aren't cluttering up our main highways.

I would like to see a really top-notch campground in the immediate vicinity of the Kinzua Dam. Not another state or federal installation, but the kind of private development so common in other sections of the country. Some that I have seen make our best "public" facilities look like primitive areas.

I would like to see access to the river made easier. We have some of the finest river fishing in the nation, but access is so difficult that some of our best areas can't be reached by the fisherman.

I would like to see our game lands managed more for the production of game than timber. While I will admit that game and timber can be produced on the same land, there is no question in the minds of "experts" that if the emphasis was placed on habitat improvement the amount of game available to the hunter could be tremendously increased.

But most of all, I guess, I would like to see civic and service organizations be more active in pushing for things that would benefit the community. Many outstanding opportunities are being lost simply because the proper public attitude and interest is lacking.

In the end, though, I suppose the easiest course for me would be membership in the Apathy Party. It always has been far easier to put things off than to get them done. And a certain amount of apathy may turn out to be my best medicine. I'll have to talk it over with Les sometime.

"You can legislate from now to kingdom come, you can completely outlaw the use of firearms and the ownership of firearms, and you are not going to stop crime." U.S. Rep. John D. Dingell, Michigan, 1965

Ducks Unlimited has spent more than $13 million for waterfowl habitat the past 30 years. Sportsmen are happy to pay the tab on waterfowl development. Sportsmen are also glad that the general public, which pays nothing for this conservation activity, enjoys the millions of waterfowl that visit America each year.

Dragons Bid to Retain Section II Laurels

BY LARRY G. STEELE
Sports Editor

Warren Area High School's thincads will have their work cut out tomorrow at the annual Section II track and field meet at Corry.

The Dragons, who have dominated the event for the past two seasons, will have to contend with a strong challenge from Franklin if they are to retain the team championship. The Knights own a dual meet victory over the Blue and White, the only blot on an otherwise perfect 1967 record, but it came on their home oval and Warren figures the situation will be different on the neutral Corry track.

Oil City, Meadville and Titusville will also compete in the all-day event.

The action begins at 9:30 tomorrow morning with trials in the 120-yard high hurdles and will continue with a lunch break around noon until approximately 5 p.m.

Dragon Head Coach Loyal Briggs is counting on help from the other four conference schools, especially Oil City and Corry, to keep the meet trophy in Warren.

In the dual meet, Franklin's margin of victory came by strong performances in the dashes, weight events, hurdles and both the mile and 880 relays.

In the 100 and 220 Oil City's John Cotherman is expected to give Don Facini of Franklin competition and the Oilers have entered big Bruce Barr, their fine quarter-mile, in the former event in hopes of another place. With Tim Donovan and Joe Cauley in the century and Chris Lytle and Rex Slocum in the 220, the Dragons plan on at least one place in each event.

The Knights swept the shot put in the dual meet with the Dragons, but Corry's Fred Corbett and John Wascak will cut down the Knights' point total there, with Warren's Darrell Pusateri having a chance for a place if he can get over the 45-foot mark.

Warren's hurdlers had a particularly poor day at Franklin, being outscored 16-2 by the Knights in the two events, but look for revenge tomorrow. Coming off a triumph in the highs at the Youngsville Invitational, Marc Segel should push Franklin's Tim Law for first place in the finals, and Sam Dinger of Oil City will also be a strong contender.

Dave Bierbach of the Knights is favored in the lows, but Corry's Denny Harrison, Segel and Chris Lytle of the Dragons could make it anybody's race.

The Knights' 880-relay team looks unbeatable, although Warren should take second place points in the event, but the mile relay could be a different story. The Dragons' mile relay unit lost their only meet of the season at Franklin and don't believe the Knights can do it again. Harry Spackman, Dave Cobb, Dan O'Neill and Donovan will be handling the baton for the Blue and White and it should take a record performance to beat them.

In addition to the mile relay, the Dragons could come away with first places in eight other events: the two mile relay, mile run, 880-yard run, broad jump, high jump, discus and triple jump.

Pan Fanaritis and Gerry Grygo, both who have been clocked around the 2:06 mark, will battle with Sam Olmes of Oil City and Franklin's Rich Hancox in the half-mile and Dave Cobb will try to reverse a defeat to Olmes in the mile. Larry Maxwell should also take points for the Dragons in the latter event.

Jim Beichner, with just a normal performance, is rated a shooin to cop both the long and triple jumps, if teammate John Zawacki doesn't come up with another 20-foot plus leap in the latter event. Zawacki, who has been flirting with the six-foot mark all season, could also take the high jump for the locals.

In the discus, a good throw by Mike Bleech of the Dragons could mean all the marbles.

Fast-improving Harry Spackman may push Barr of the Oilers in the 440, with O'Neill hanging in for another place for the Blue and White.

Other events find Oil City's Dinger favored in the pole vault, and Hancox of the Knights as the top man in the javelin. Warren's Steve Beyer and Rick Nasman should place in the vault and a good throw by Dan Stimmel, who missed the Franklin meet with an injury, could take points in the javelin.

Rules governing the meet are as follows:

Scoring will be on a 6-4-3-2-1 basis from first to fifth place. Each contestant in the shot, discus, javelin long jump and triple jump will have four tries in the trials, with the top six getting three more in the finals.

All distance races will be held in one heat, with the fastest men in the front rank. Two mile relay will be run in one heat, the mile and 880 relays in two heats, places selected by time. California exchanges will be used.

Six fastest times in hurdles heats will make finals, first two finishers in 100 and 220-yard dashes heats will compete in finals.

Cheesbourg to Drive Bandini's Indy Car

By DALE BURGESS

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (AP) — Big Bill Cheesbourg, veteran Tucson, Ariz., race driver, squeezed himself yesterday into the Gerhardt-Ford which had been assigned to Italian ace Lorenzo Bandini for the 51st 500-mile race at the Indianapolis Motor Speedway.

Car owner Walter Weir of Webster Groves, Mo., announced the assignment 24 hours after Bandini died of injuries suffered Sunday in the Monaco Grand Prix.

The 205-pound, 39-year-old Cheesbourg has driven in seven Indianapolis races, often with experimental cars, and his best finish was a tenth in a Novi in 1958.

A heavy overnight rain delayed opening of the track yesterday for practice for Saturday's opening qualifying sessions, and gusty winds kept down speeds of most drivers during the day.

Graham Hill of London, last year's 500 winner, spun his Lotus-Ford for the second time in the northeast turn. Also for the second time he avoided any substantial damage or injury.

Al Smith of Dayton, Ohio, a 38-year-old veteran of the smaller tracks, became the 14th rookie to pass the Speedway driver's test. He will try to qualify a Checker Marathon Ford entered by A.B.C. Engine of Indianapolis.

Sammy Sessions of Nashville, Mich., became the ninth driver to complete the refresher course required of men who took the 100-mile rookie's test in previous years and failed to qualify or have not competed in the last three races.

Sessions, who has never started at Indianapolis, was in the unique front-wheel-drive Spit Fire Special built by Mickey Thompson of Long Beach, Calif. The car's special features include four-wheel steering.

Visitors included Jack Brabham, the 1966 world champion who started the rear-engine revolution at the Speedway in 1961. He finished ninth in a Cooper-Climax with an engine about a third smaller than any in the field.

Brabham said he made the trip from England to just look around and had no intention of racing in the 500 this year.

Jimmy McElreath, Arlington, Tex., the U.S. Auto Club's No. 2 ranking driver, escaped injury yesterday when his car lost its left front wheel going into the first turn. It slid almost half a mile on the brake drum and came to rest in the infield.

The car appeared to be only slightly damaged. The mishap occurred near the spot where Jochen Rindt of Austria crashed Tuesday. Rindt now is driving an Eagle Ford originally assigned to Jerry Grant of Santa Ana, Calif.

Clay to Go On Trial In Houston, June 5

HOUSTON (AP) — June 5 was set yesterday as the date for the trial of Cassius Clay on a charge of violating a Selective Service order.

Clay was stripped of his world's heavyweight boxing championship after refusing April 28 to be inducted into the armed services.

U.S. Atty. Morton Susman said Thursday the trial will begin at 10 a.m. June 5 before federal Judge Joe Ingraham.

Ingraham will become the fourth federal judge in Houston to become involved in the case since Clay transferred his Selective Service records to Houston from Louisville, Ky., in January.

Judge Allen B. Hannay refused April 27 to grant an order delaying the criminal proceedings pending settlement of a civil case. Judge Ben C. Connally made a similar ruling last Monday shortly after Clay was inducted by a federal grand jury.

Judge Woodrow Seals refused May 1 to order draft boards in Louisville and Houston to exempt Clay from the draft on grounds he is a Black Muslim minister.

Clay's attorneys have appealed the rulings to the 5th Circuit Court of Appeals at New Orleans.

Hayden Covington, the chief attorney from New York City, has said it will take from 18 to 24 months for the Supreme Court to act on the final appeals and that Clay "will never see the inside of a jail."

Clay was released under $5,000 bond Monday after being fingerprinted and photographed at the U.S. marshal's office. Conviction on the charge could bring a $10,000 fine and a maximum sentence of five years in prison.

SPORTS

Tiger Tells How He'll Beat Jose

NEW YORK (AP) — Light-heavyweight champion Dick Tiger makes no secret of how he intends to fight Jose Torres in their return bout Tuesday at Madison Square Garden.

"I'm going to punch his body," said the 37-year-old Nigerian Thursday after going through a brisk three-round workout. "That's the way I beat him in December."

"That's the only way to discourage Torres," said trainer Chickie Ferrara. "Dick is real sharp. He's been punching hard and fast to the body and head. I cut the workout to three rounds. I just want to keep him sharp."

Tiger, usually a slow starter, took the play away from Torres right from opening bell of their first fight at the Garden last Dec. 16. He finished strong, too, in sweeping the unanimous decision.

The muscular champion boxed two rounds with Amandi Parrette, a 181-pound heavy-weight, and a final round with middleweight Julio Novoa. In his second round with Parrette, Tiger slammed solid left hooks to the body that made his spartan win.

Torres is noted for his body punching. He won the title from Willie Pastrano by slowing down the boxing master with thumping punches to the ribs and kidneys.

But Tiger showed him two can play the same game and it was the Nigerian who won decisively.

Ballman, Ditka Ink Pacts with Eagles

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Mike Ditka signed his 1967 contract with the Philadelphia Eagles of the National Football League yesterday and then told of a tax gimmick he used in handling that $50,000 bonus he received from the American Football League's Houston Oilers.

"I wrote 'em a big check," said the 230-pound tight end acquired last month by the Eagles from the Chicago Bears in exchange for quarterback Jack Concannon and a 1968 draft choice.

Ditka and Gary Ballman, the flanker back secured in a deal with the Pittsburgh Steelers, inked pacts after negotiations with Eagles' coach-general manager Joe Kuharich.

The two premier pass receivers then faced a news conference in which they summed up their feelings by saying professional football can be described in three little letters W I N.

Ditka at one point flashed an NFL championship ring earned with the Bears and commented: "Gary would like to have one of these. I've promised him he'll get one with the Philadelphia Eagles."

Ballman, who came here in exchange for fullback Earl Gros and a 1967 draft choice, said he didn't mind the constant booing of the Pittsburgh fans. "It was one way of getting recognized," he joked.

Ditka said he wanted to forget his feud with owner George Halas of the Bears.

"What happened is behind me," he said when asked what precipitated his decision to play out his option and become a free agent.

CHALLENGER PICKED TO WIN

Frazier's Owners Say No To Elimination Matches

By RALPH BERNSTEIN
Associated Press Sports Writer
PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Joe Frazier's backers turned down a potential $250,000 for three fights when they rejected the proposed eight-man elimination tournament to determine a successor to Cassius Clay as heavyweight champion.

In view of the fact that Clobberay Corp., which owns Frazier's contract has less than $60,000 in assets with more than 1,000 shares outstanding at $250 each, they took a calculated risk in ignoring the elimination tournament.

Dr. Bruce Baldwin, the food executive who organized and heads the group goes along with Yancey Durham, the trainer who decides who Frazier fights and when and where. They feel the potential of their unbeaten winner of 16 fights is far greater than a quarter of a million dollars.

Sports Action, a group headed by Mike Malitz, Fred Hofheinz and former football great Jimmy Brown, offered a guarantee of $50,000 for the first fight in the elimination program, $75,000 for the semifinal and $125,000 for the final.

The finalist would receive 30 per cent of the live gate and the net ancillary proceeds — radio and television, training camp expenses would be paid in the amount of $2,000. Some of the bouts were slated for abroad to accommodate Karl Mildenberger, the German heavyweight, and Oscar Bonavena, the Argentinian.

In bouts held abroad, a referee from a neutral country, a ringside judge from the United States and one from the country in which the fight is held would be provided. Teddy Waltham of the British Board of Boxing Control would choose the foreign referee. Live television coverage is planned throughout the world, especially in the United States, Canada, Mexico, England, Europe and Japan.

As for Frazier, trainer Durham said yesterday, "Let the others fight it out first and we'll challenge the winner. No, let the winner challenge us. They'll have to come to us, because without Frazier they'll never get anybody recognized as champion."

College Frosh Looking to Break High Jump Record

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP) — How high can University California freshman Clarence Johnson jump?

His varsity counterpart, Willie Nutt, thinks "maybe five more inches."

Coach Sam Bell declines to answer and Johnson doesn't seem very concerned.

All three agree the world record is within Johnson's range. Clarence concedes, "Yes, it's a possibility."

Last Saturday the 19-year-old import from San Antonio, Tex., cleared 7 feet, 3 1/4 inches. Only the early birds saw it, because it was in the freshman prelude to the California varsity meet at Stanford.

Johnson's mark stands fourth highest in track and field history and second best by an American.

Russia's Valeri Brumel holds the world record at 7'5 1/2", China's Ni Chih Chin cleared 7'5 3/8", and John Thomas of Boston 7'3 3/4".

Saturday saw Johnson's fourth and fifth trips over the once magic 7-foot barrier. He did it first last year for St. Peter Claver Academy, a small Catholic High School in San Antonio.

That jump, however, was made in a meet which had non-scholastic competitors, so

Falcons Give Up
On Jim Taylor

ATLANTA (AP) — The Atlanta Falcons have withdrawn an offer to Jim Taylor of the Green Bay Packers, the Atlanta Journal reported yesterday.

The Journal said Falcon General Manager Frank Wall telephoned Taylor at his home in Baton Rouge, La., Wednesday to inform him that Atlanta no longer is interested in obtaining his services.

Wall was unavailable for comment.

Earlier, the Falcons had said they would make the Green Bay free agent and former Louisiana State player a firm offer which he could either accept or turn down.

Over-the-Hill Hurlers and Stars Of Future Sent to Minor Leagues

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

Rookie Mike Epstein is talking at another trip to the minors and veterans such as Bill Monbouquette, Ralph Terry and Bob Buhl are looking for jobs after the final outcoun of major league rosters.

Epstein, voted the outstanding player in the minors last year when he batted .309, hit 29 homers and drove in 102 runs for Rochester in the International League, has been shipped back to Rochester. He wants to stay or be traded to a big league team.

The 24-year-old slugger was tried in the outfield in spring training but his best position is first base where Boog Powell, only 25, is firmly entrenched.

Monbouquette, central figure in a major trade between Detroit and Boston after the 1965 season, had been relegated to the bullpen with the red hot Tigers. When the Tigers asked the 30-year-old right-hander to go out to the Toledo farm with veteran catcher Chris Cannizzarro, Monbouquette declined. He then was placed on waivers. If not claimed in three days he will be able to make his own deal.

Terry, the goat of the 1960 World Series and the hero in 1962, already is a free agent, having drawn his unconditional release from the New York Mets. At 31, Terry is looking for a chance to hook on with another club or convince the Mets they were wrong. He will work out at Shea Stadium when the Mets go on a road trip Friday.

It could be the end of the line for Buhl, 38, who has had little chance to work for the Phillies this cold and rainy spring. He came to the Phils a year ago with Larry Jackson for Ferguson Jenkins and Adolfo Phillips. Cincinnati's decision to option first baseman Gordy Coleman to the Buffalo farm was not as surprising as it would have been a year ago. With both Lee May and Tony Perez available for first base, the Reds were unable to get much use from Coleman, a .302 hitter in 1965. The Reds also shipped Aurelio Montegudo, a pitcher they picked up on waivers from Houston last fall, selling him conditionally to Indianapolis, a Chicago White Sox farm.

Three trades were made in conjunction with the outcoun moves. The Los Angeles Dodgers got Lenny Gabrielson, a spare outfielder and pinch hitter, for use while Lou Johnson recovers from a broken ankle. The deal was made with the California Angels, who got utility infielder John Werhas.

The Mets bought veteran third baseman Ed Charles from Kansas City for $60,000 and shipped outfielder Larry Elliot from a farm club to the A's Vancouver farm. The Mets also bought infielder Bob Johnson, a handyman who plays any position from Baltimore and also acquired pitcher John Miller from the Orioles for their Jacksonville farm.

To make room for the newcomers, Manager Wes Westrum of the Mets gave Terry his release and cut Greg Goossen, a 21-year-old catcher, Jerry Koosman, 23, one of two left-handed pitchers on the club; and Larry Stahl, an extra outfielder. All three went to the Jacksonville farm.

Harry Walker of Pittsburgh shipped left-handed pitcher Bill Short and Manny Jimenez to the Columbus farm club of the International League. Both were on minor league rosters in spring training and were moved up to the parent club.

Russ Gibson, a minor league catcher for 10 years who was Boston's No. 1 catcher for a spell in early season, was cut and shipped out to Pittsburgh, Mass., in the Eastern League. Houston decided Aaron Pointer, the Astros' regular left fielder in early season, needed more work in the minors and optioned him to Oklahoma City. The brass decided to keep Norm Miller, a left-handed batter recently recalled from Oklahoma City.

The player shuffle wasn't bad news for everybody. Kansas City recalled third baseman Sal Bando to play third base in place of Charles and also recalled Roberto Rodriguez, a righthanded pitcher to help Jack Aker in the bullpen. Both were with Vancouver, Cleveland brought up outfielder Jose Vidal from Portland where he has been ripping the ball.

The final cuts in the major league rosters included:

NATIONAL LEAGUE
Cincinnati—Optioned Gordy Coleman to the Buffalo farm, sold Aurelio Montegudo conditionally to Indianapolis.
Houston—Optioned Aaron Pointer to Oklahoma City.
Los Angeles—Traded John Werhas to California Angels for Lenny Gabrielson, Bruce Bruhaker and Alan Foster, assigned to Spokane.
New York—Released Ralph Terry unconditionally; optioned Larry Stahl, Greg Goossen and Jerry Koosman to Jacksonville; bought Bob Johnson from Baltimore and Ed Charles from Kansas City.
Philadelphia—Placed Bob Buhl on waivers; optioned Gary Wagner to San Diego.
Pittsburgh—Optioned Manny Jimenez and Bill Short to Columbus.
St. Louis—Optioned Ted Savage and Jim Coonan to Toledo.
San Francisco—Optioned Cesar Gutterez and Bob Barton to San Diego.

AMERICAN LEAGUE
Baltimore—Optioned Mike Epstein to Rochester; sold Bob Johnson to the Mets and John Miller to Jacksonville.
Boston—Optioned Russ Gibson to Pittsburgh; placed George Thomas on disabled list.
Cleveland—Optioned Vicenye Romo, Buddy Hooker and Willie Smith, to Portland; recalled Jim Fregosi from Portland.
Detroit—Placed Bill Monbouquette on waivers; optioned Chris Cannizzarro to Toledo.
Kansas City—Sold Ed Charles to Mets; optioned Bob Dillha to Vancouver; made Wes Stock a coach; recalled Roberto Rodriguez and Sal Bando from Vancouver.

'67 Mercury: performance plus reliability in the world's most powerful outboards.

Mercury built the first production outboard to deliver over 1 HP per cubic inch... first outboard to exceed 100 MPH... first with a 100-HP outboard. For 28 years, Mercury has led the industry in outboard power. The '67 Mercurys combine unique in-line design. Power-Dome combustion chambers and lightning-fast Thunderbolt ignition without breaker points to produce more horsepower per cubic inch than ever before. And you get this kind of performance with the same built-in reliability that set the world's endurance record: two production Mercurys ran 50,000 miles in 68 1/2 days at an average speed of 30.3 MPH! Performance plus reliability: you get 'em both only in a '67 Mercury—engineered to stay ahead.

3.9, 6.9, 9.8, 20, 35, 50, 65, 95 and 110 HP.

Hargan Hurls Tribe Out Of Slump, Buccos Bombed

WASHINGTON (AP) — Steve Hargan pitched a five hitter as the Cleveland Indians beat the Washington Senators 2-1 last night and snapped a four-game losing streak.

Hargan, 3-3, outdueled Camilio Pascual as he struck out six and walked two. He was aided by three double plays.

Pascual, 2-1, who struck out 10 in eight innings, gave the Indians the run they needed in the second inning when Fred Whitfield doubled and scored on two wild pitches.

Lee Maye walked to lead off the third for the Indians and Chuck Hinton doubled him home.

The Senators scored in the ninth when Frank Howard singled and pinch-runner Pete Richter scored as Hinton dropped Dick Nen's long fly. Nen reached third, but Hargan then struck out Paul Casanova.

Beard Still on Ball, Tied at New Orleans

By BEN THOMAS
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP) — Respected Frank Beard, the defending champion, and Gardner Dickinson, last year's runner-up, fashioned four-under-par 68s yesterday and shared the first round lead in the $100,000 Greater New Orleans Open Golf Tournament.

"The wind was very bad," said Beard, who currently is the hottest player on the tour at this moment with victories in the rich Tournament of Champions and the Houston Champions International in the past month.

Beard carded a 33-35—68 and Dickinson a 34-34—68.

Skies were almost cloudless, and the temperature reached the high 80s. The brisk wind gave the pros trouble over the 7,020-yard Lakewood Country Club layout with its emerald green fairways, strategically placed bunkers and 11 lakes which come into play on almost every hole.

Dickinson complained that the fairways were so hard "that it hurt my feet." He said the course played much shorter because "we're getting a lot of roll."

Beard's putter was hot again "and I'm enjoying it while it lasts," he said. "I hope I can keep it going. My irons weren't particularly sharp."

Beard needed only 29 putts on

Satchel Paige Named to NBC Hall of Fame

WICHITA, Kan. (AP) — LeRoy (Satchel) Paige was named yesterday as one of five members of the National Baseball Congress Managers Hall of Fame.

The selections were based on performances of 800 managers in the past 32 national championship tournaments.

Paige managed Bismarck, N.D., to the title in 1935. He was the pitcher in four of Bismarck's seven tournament victories.

Others named were John Braden of Fort Wayne, Ind.; Nick Urban of Enid, Okla.; Ray Stratton of Drain, Ore.; and Charlie Williams of Ponchatoula, La.

Paige holds the tournament record of 60 strikeouts in 38 innings.

He gained fame over 30 years in just about every rank of league existing. He has lived recently at Kansas City, and this year is playing for the Indianapolis Clowns, a barnstorming team.

NO MAJOR CHANGES; VOTE 70-2

Senate Okays 4-Year Extension of Draft Law

By JOHN D. MORRIS
c) N.Y. Times News Service
WASHINGTON—The Senate passed last night a bill to extend the Selective Service Act without major change for four years. The vote was 70 to 2.

The negative votes were by Senators Wayne Morse, D-Ore., and Ernest Gruening, D-Alaska.

The measure, as approved and sent to the House, would preserve President Johnson's authority to draft eligible 19-year-olds by lot and permit him to carry out other administrative innovations.

Hearings on a companion bill already are under way before the House Armed Services Committee.

In a series of votes before the roll call on passage, opponents of the Vietnam war were defeated by one-sided majorities in attempts to amend the draft law.

One of the rejected amendments by Sen. Mark O. Hatfield, R-Ore., called for a congressional declaration that the draft constitutes a total governmental invasion of the liberties of America's young men.

When feasible at reasonable cost, Congress should terminate the draft and substitute a voluntary system for raising and maintaining needed armed forces, according to the proposed declaration. The vote against the amendment was 67 to 9.

Also turned down were amendments to restrict the law's extension to two years; to prohibit the involuntary assignment of draftees to Southeast Asia; to reduce the maximum period of active duty for draftees from two years to 18 months; and to establish national criteria for the classification of persons eligible for the draft.

In a special message March 6, Johnson requested a four-year extension of the act, which expires June 30, and then outlined plans to set up a draft lottery and make other major administrative changes by Jan. 1, 1969. He disclosed his intention to order the following:

—That 19-year-old men be the first exposed to the random call-up each year, along with older men whose deferments had expired.

—That deferments for all graduate students, except those preparing to be physicians, dentists and ministers, be abolished.

The President left undecided the question whether to reverse the present policy of deferring college undergraduates who are making satisfactory progress toward earning bachelor's degrees.

Two days of floor debate indicated general agreement with the Senate Armed Services Committee in favoring continued undergraduate deferments and the drafting of nearly all graduate students. The committee, in its report to the Senate, also expressed misgivings about the wisdom of a random selection system, or lottery, but did not oppose a trial.

There was no attempt in the Senate to write into the draft law any prohibition against a lottery. However, there is a strong movement in the House Armed Services Committee to do so.

The proposed lottery is part of a plan to make 19-year-olds subject to call-up before older men. The present system is to call the oldest eligible men first, by date of birth.

The pool of available 19-year-olds in future years will amount to about 730,000 men each year. But only about 110,000 will be taken by the draft in normal peacetime years.

The Senate bill would revise the present law to permit the drafting of alien physicians and dentists until they are 35 years old. Under the current law, alien physicians and dentists are liable for the draft until they are 26.

The President's request for new legislative authority to draft youths into the National Guard and other reserve components was denied, but the bill includes an amendment that would allow men to enlist in the reserves up until the moment they are inducted. Under the current law, they must do so before they receive their draft notices.

The legislation would also make permanent the President's temporary authority to summon to active duty reservists who fail to fulfill their obligations.

Merchants Accuse Red China

(c) N.Y. Times News Service
HONG KONG—Ships flying the flag of Communist China fired at American planes making a bombing raid on Haiphong harbor, British merchant seamen said yesterday.

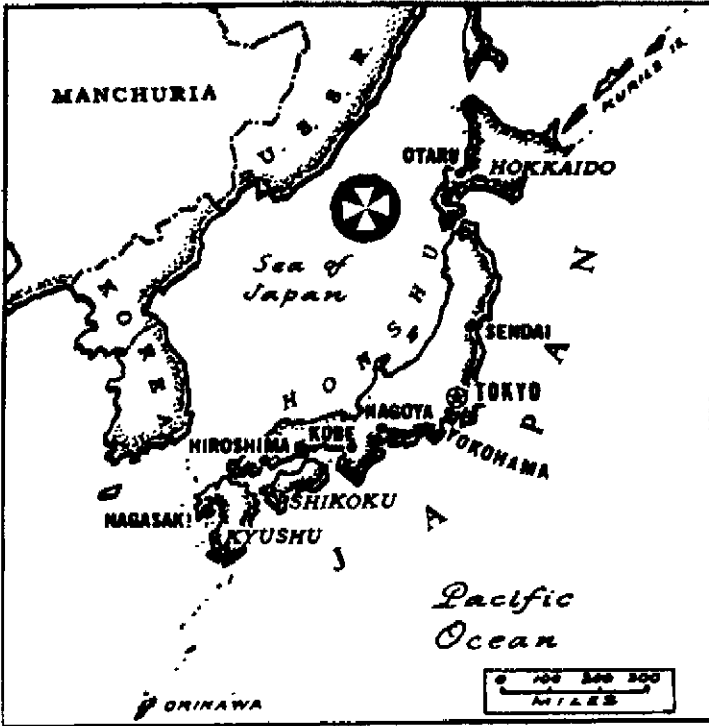

The Gibraltar-registered Ardrossmore, was berthed in Haiphong harbor on April 25 when the raid took place. Her officers watched U.S. jets rocket and bomb a cement plant. They reported one U.S. plane shot down by ground fire.

One British engineer said the Chinese ships were armed with heavy machine guns, about .50 caliber. Another officer stated that bullets from the Chinese ships were spraying dangerously close to other craft in the harbor as their gunners fired at low-flying U.S. raiders.

Barney, second mate of the Ardrossmore, said the British officers had registered a formal complaint through the ship's agents, on grounds that the Chinese action might provoke U.S. retaliation and endanger other merchant vessels nearby.

"The harbor was full of foreign ships, but only the Chinese joined in the ground fire, which was pouring into the sky from North Vietnamese guns and launches and from rifles of guards on shore. So far as we could see, all Russian and East European ships were unharmed," Giles said.

Most of the Chinese ships had "at least one gun aft," he said, while some were more heavily armed. Apart from their armament they appeared to be ordinary merchant vessels, he added.

SITE OF COLLISION

A Soviet destroyer bumped an American destroyer on maneuvers in the Sea of Japan (Maltese cross on UPI newsmag) Wednesday and again yesterday despite repeated warnings the Soviet vessel was steaming dangerously close, the Defense Department announced. There were no injuries, and only minor damage. Involved were the U.S. destroyer "Walker" and the Soviet destroyer "Besslednyy," which approached from behind and scraped the Walker's starboard.

U.S. Destroyer Struck By Red Ship 2nd Time

By LEWIS GULICK
WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States announced yesterday that for the second day in a row a Soviet destroyer side-swiped the U.S. destroyer Walker in the Sea of Japan. Washington delivered tough-tongued protests calling on the Kremlin to promptly "halt such harassments."

The surprise news of the second naval collision apparently shifted the matter from the status of accident to serious incident marking further worsening of U.S.-Soviet relations already strained over the Vietnam war.

Although no formal response to the U.S. protests has yet come from Moscow, it was understood that the Soviets here rejected out of hand the U.S. accusation of deliberate harassment.

As of late yesterday, neither incident had been reported in Moscow newspapers.

American diplomats wondered whether Moscow deliberately has stepped up its naval interference in retaliation for the expanded U.S. bombing of North Vietnam.

Some U.S. admirals likened the maneuvering of the rival destroyers to a game of "chicken" at sea-holding on collision course to see who would give way first.

The Pentagon gave out a brief U.S. version of yesterday's naval contact while the State Department hurriedly called in the top Soviet here to deliver what it termed a second severe complaint.

The Pentagon reported: At 1:33 a.m. Washington time 2:33 p.m. Tokyo time the Walker and a Soviet Krupny class destroyer "brushed together about 300 nautical miles 345 statute miles west southwest of Hokkaido Island, Japan."

"There were no apparent casualties and only light damage was reported. The incident occurred when the Soviet destroyer turned into the Walker despite the latter's warnings."

A Pentagon spokesman said the American destroyer gave six short blasts on its horn as a danger signal before the collision.

A State Department spokesman said the U.S. vessel signaled: "Don't cross my bow!"

Sources here said visibility was not a factor. The incident occurred in daylight hours and, although there was some haze, visibility was not appreciably restricted.

Sources disclosed also that the Walker was virtually at a standstill in the water when hit by the Soviet destroyer traveling at an estimated 10 knots.

International rules of the road specify that one ship should steer clear of a group of other ships on maneuvers.

Newly Formed 5,600-Man Brigade to Go to Vietnam

(c) N.Y. Times News Service
WASHINGTON—Defense Department officials said yesterday that a new 5,600-man infantry brigade to be formed this month at Ft. Hood, Texas will be sent to South Vietnam.

Officials declined to say when the brigade will be dispatched to Vietnam, but army officers estimated it would probably take at least five months for the new unit, the 198th Infantry Brigade, to be organized,

Yemen Seizes U.S. Property

(c) N.Y. Times News Service
ASMARA, ETHIOPIA—The Yemeni government has seized about $1 million worth of property belonging to the United States government, American officials disclosed here yesterday.

Their report was the first authoritative estimate of the value of vehicles, cranes, furniture and other equipment that the Yemeni government, which is controlled by the United Arab Republic, took over and put under guard last month after expelling the U.S. Aid Mission and arresting two of its members for allegedly trying to blow up the city of Taiz. The property was used by the mission whose staff has been temporarily quartered in Asmara.

As far as could be learned here, there is no precedent for seizure of so large a quantity of U.S. aid equipment by a government with which the U.S. maintains diplomatic relations.

The matter is expected to complicate negotiations now going on between the Yemen and U.A.R. governments and the U.S., which is seeking to obtain the release of the two officials, Steven Liapis and Harold Hartman, whom the Yemeni regime plans to put on trial.

Yemeni and Egyptian sentries and officials have denied American diplomats access to the property, mostly in the city of Taiz, as well as to other facilities directly associated with specific aid projects which the U.S. agrees belongs to Yemen.

Referring to both the U.S. property and to project facilities, Yemen's president, Abdullah Al Salal, said in a recent interview, "You know it has been agreed between the U.S. and the Yemeni government that all these things belong to the Yemeni republic."

He seemed unaware of the distinction, cited by U.S. officials, between the two categories of property.

When the question was raised he said simply that the entire matter was under investigation.

trained and shipped to Vietnam. Defense officials attempted to create the impression that the decision to dispatch the brigade had been taken some time ago and was not part of the new request by Gen. William C. Westmoreland, U.S. commander in Saigon, for additional troops beyond the 470,000 to 480,000-man ceiling which the administration decided upon last fall.

During his visit here two weeks ago General Westmoreland reportedly asked President Johnson to provide him with 555,000 troops by mid-1968 at the latest. There are now 442,000 American servicemen in South Vietnam.

The decision to send the brigade, officials said, "should not be taken as an indication that this involves anything beyond the troop strengths included in the 1968 budget already presented to Congress."

The budget provided for a Vietnam ceiling of 470,000 to 480,000 men.

Officials refused to elaborate further, but the implication of their statement was that the decision to send the brigade was not a result of General Westmoreland's request for additional troops. Military sources said they also believed that the decision to send the brigade had been included in prior planning.

In another Vietnam development yesterday the White House announced the appointment of Ambassador William Leonhart as special assistant to the President for civilian programs in Vietnam. Ambassador Leonhart replaced Robert Komer, who previously held the position of advisor to the President on pacification in Vietnam.

Overall responsibility for the pacification program was transferred Wednesday from civilian to military control and placed under General Westmoreland. The program had previously been the responsibility of former deputy ambassador to Saigon, William J. Porter.

10 Highway Deaths In Police Reports

Ten persons were killed last month on the highways of Erie, Warren, Crawford and Venango counties, according to a recent announcement by Captain Robert L. Dunham, commanding officer of troop "E" of Pennsylvania State Police.

The deaths resulted from 203 motor vehicle accidents investigated. During the same period last year 234 accidents were recorded with 3 deaths. He said reckless driving and driving too fast for conditions remained as the top causes of the area mishaps.

A total of 1,303 persons were processed for operator's licenses with 953 passing and 350 failing to meet requirements.

Minor Damage

Two vehicles in the process of making right turns off Pennsylvania ave. collided about 4 p.m. yesterday at the intersection of Market st. with minor damage resulting.

Borough patrolman Richard White reported both drivers were traveling in the same direction and had their vehicles in improper lanes when the accident occurred.

Marko Kirin, 50, of RD 1, Columbus was driving a car that received an estimated $250 damage while a truck operated by James L. Coleman, 31, of Kane was undamaged in the accident.

PLAY OPENS TONIGHT

ON BURGLARY CHARGES

Three Erie Persons Arraigned in Court

Three Erie persons, two girls and a man, were arraigned before Judge Alexander C. Flick Jr. and pleaded guilty to burglary.

Cheryl Lyn Fulton, Maryann Kerchak and James J. Hammerman, arrested by Chief Deputy Sheriff Richard E. Hegerty and State police trooper Gary L. Rain last week, admitted entering a total of five camps in Warren county, the two girls responsible for two burglaries; Hammerman and the Kerchak woman, two and the trio the fifth. The Erieites asked immediate sentencing and were ordered to serve six months in jail with parole on recommendation of Chief probation officer L. E. Linder.

Miss Kerchak was taken to Erie by police officials of that city to serve as a witness in the trial of the Commonwealth vs. James Martin. The latter, a member of "God's Children," was arrested when he allegedly fired at an Erie policeman while driving through city streets in a stolen car following a raid staged by police on a disorderly house. Several picked up in the raid broke out of the paddy wagon and fled.

Hammerman, also a member of the "Children" motorcycle group is wanted in Erie where he jumped bail posted by a bondsman.

All three face burglary charges in Forest County and detainees have been sent by Tionesta state police.

Two others, Jesse Hoovler, 103 Conewago ave. and Kenneth George Gorzynski, Erie, charged with burglary and larceny, following a break-in at Lewis Market, pleaded innocent.

Moose Enrolls Class Saturday

Moose Lodge 109 of Warren will enroll new members Saturday in a ceremony dedicated to a national officer of the Moose fraternity.

He is Herbert W. Heilman, director of the enrollment department of the Supreme Lodge, Loyal Order of the Moose, who will be in Warren for the ritual.

Performing the ritual will be the degree team from Niagara Falls, N. Y., which has been in Warren on previous occasions.

Dinner will be served from 5 to 7 p. m., with class enrollment scheduled for 8 p. m. Dancing will begin at 9 p. m.

to the charges yesterday.

The cases will be presented to the August grand jury.

Frances Marie Cross, formerly of Warren and now a resident of Jamestown, N.Y., pleaded guilty to a larceny charge, had imposition of sentence suspended, placed on six months probation and ordered to pay costs. Mrs. Cross was arrested for the theft of some $470 worth of earnings and fishing tackle from Jamesway Store in North Warren. All of the items were returned to the store.

Lloyd E. Exley, RD 2, Sugar Grove, charged with two counts of cheating by false pretense, also pleaded guilty and is scheduled to be sentenced by Judge Flick this morning.

Election Termed Important

A greater portion of responsibility rests on every registered voter in this primary election than any other primary election in the 1960's, the county commissioners office has pointed out.

"The total number of citizens registered in all parties is lower than at any primary election in this decade. There are 18,349 eligible to vote on Tuesday, 12,037 Republicans, 5,992 Democrats and 230 in all other parties and non-partisans. The registrants in "other parties" may vote only on the questions," a statement from the office said.

The statement noted that the registration totals for other primary elections are as follows:

1965 . . . . . 20,140

1964 . . . . . 19,361

1963 . . . . . 19,209

1961 . . . . . 20,254

"Even though our population is increasing, the number of registered voters in all parties has declined nearly 2,000 since 1961. It simply means that fewer people will make the decisions for more of their neighbors. This increases the responsibility on each registered voter and should make him eager to vote on Tuesday," the statement concluded.

Four Area Youths Held for Fireworks

Four area juveniles were responsible for the purchase of some $250 worth of assorted fireworks which were used to create considerable havoc throughout Warren borough and in the county recently.

The older two youths will be charged with malicious mischief, according to State police trooper Harry W. Jabo of the Warren substation, who, with borough police Sgt. Roger Thelin apprehended a number of teenagers who used fireworks to destroy mail boxes, and a variety of other incidents.

Two of the four, who made the fireworks purchases in Ohio, also admitted using D-B guns to shoot out seven street lights and the rear window of a local man's car.

A fifth juvenile, police officers said, was arrested for shooting off one of the fireworks on the front porch of a Warren resident. All will be referred to juvenile authorities.

Sgt. Thelin and Trooper Jabo said the investigation is being continued since there have been additional complaints and it is believed that about 60 other juveniles may possess some of the illegal fireworks.

Grand Valley's Girl Scouts Slate Shower

The Girl Scouts of Grand Valley remind area persons of the shower planned at 7 p.m. Monday for the Sheldon Baker family in that village, burned out Monday morning of this week.

Clothing, including underwear, pajamas and socks, is badly needed for five boys and one girl, sizes 1 to 8 as well as bedding of any sort. The shower will be held in the EUB Church fellowship hall.

BY TREASURER JACK MCCOOL

Commissioners Asked To Fire Roy Sherman

County Treasurer Jack McCool yesterday asked the county commissioners to discharge the county employee who filed a court action for mandamus against him.

McCool said he was asking the commissioners to "request the immediate resignation of Roy E. Sherman, Warren County map supervisor."

The county treasurer said the request should be made in compliance with Pamphlet Law No. 323, which provides for the removal of county officials and appointees "at the pleasure of the appointing power, except as otherwise expressly provided by law, and they shall also be removed on conviction of misbehavior in office."

McCool cited two reasons for his request. One was that Sherman "has been cognizant of my title to the property named in one of the complaints" filed against McCool. The treasurer said Sherman was a plaintiff "for a considerable time and he made no effort to correct the same accordingly in his office."

The second reason cited by McCool was "When asked why this difference was not resolved before this time, he made a statement to the effect that they were waiting until now in the hope that they could force me into voiding the redemption."

McCool said there were other reasons for asking his resignation, but he did "not think it is necessary to elaborate upon them at this time."

The treasurer said he was sure the commissioners would agree that "expeditious action in this matter is necessary to the benefit of all of us in Warren County."

SEVERAL PROMINENT SPEAKERS

Collective Bargaining Seminar This Weekend at Jamestown

Labor relations and the art of collective bargaining will be the main topics of discussion when representatives of labor and management meet Saturday, May 20, at Jamestown Community College for a seminar entitled "Emerging Characteristics of Collective Bargaining—1967."

The one-day session is being sponsored by Jamestown Community College, the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service and the Industrial Relations Research Association.

According to Dr. Albert W. Baisler, President of Jamestown Community College and co-chairman of the seminar, reservations have been coming in steadily from many points in Western New York and nearby Pennsylvania. Reservations deadline is May 17 and they must be sent to the college. The program begins May 20 at 8:30 a.m. with registration.

A number of speakers of national importance in the field of labor relations will take part in the program.

Dr. Baisler said that the luncheon speaker will be Robert H. Moore, deputy director, Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service. Other participants include Dr. James A. Gross, arbitrator and professor of collective bargaining, Cornell University; Darrell F. Brown, vice president of Employees Relations, American Can Company, New York City; Howard Jenkins, member of National Labor Relations Board and L. Ross Mathews, executive vice president, International Association of Machinists and Aerospace Workers, Washington, D.C.

Among the coordinators are William H. Schifke, Dean of the college, Jamestown Community College, and Dr. David Kochery, arbitrator and professor of law, University of Buffalo Law School.

Other co-chairmen serving with Dr. Baisler include Commissioner Samuel H. Sackman, president-elect, Industrial Relations Research Association for Western New York; Thomas

R. Colosi, president IRRRA; Frank H. Brown, Director of the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service, Washington, D.C.; Anthony Zerbo of JCC is chairman of public relations. Mathews, a tool and die maker by trade, fills the busy office of executive vice president of the International Association of Machinists and Aerospace Workers in Washington, D.C. Mr. Mathews was assigned to the post by IAM President P.L. Siemiller following his election in 1965. In this post Mr. Mathews directs the 1,000 man field staff of the IAM. Mr. Mathews has been with the IAM since 1943 and later joined the field staff in 1956, first as special representative and later as a Grand Lodge Auditor. Mr. Mathews is also co-chairman of the Machinists Non-Partisan Political League and served on the National Planning Committee for 15 years.

Dr. James A. Gross is an assistant professor in the department of Collective Bargaining, Labor Law and Labor Movements, at Cornell University. He received the B.S. degree from LaSalle College, the M. A. degree from Temple University and the Ph. D. from the University of Wisconsin.

A member of the American Economic Association, the Industrial Relations Research Association and the American Academy of Political and Social Science, he also belongs to the American Association of University Professors and the American Arbitration Association. He has articles published in the Journal of Negro History, Labor History, Labor Law Journal and the Industrial and Labor Relations Review.

Walter Bergler Speaks for UF

Walter Bergler, vice president for corporate planning at the National Forge Co. will give the keynote address at the United Fund Thank You Day luncheon next Tuesday at noon in the Woman's Club.

Edward A. Ryberg, newly elected president of the UF, will present merit awards to local business firms for their outstanding support in the 1966 campaign.

Byron W. Knapp, member of the UF board of directors, will present special recognition awards to several individuals for their work as volunteers in past campaigns.

Raymond Steln, immediate past president, will be toastmaster and Mrs. Donald H. Spencer, president of the YWCA will give the invocation.

United Fund leaders and other volunteers are asked to make their reservations promptly so the committee can complete plans for the luncheon.

Bergler, the keynote speaker came to Warren in 1963 as marketing manager for technical development at National Forge. He later became director of marketing and then vice president.

Bergler is a graduate mechanical engineer of Yale University

Town Crier

... By Les Rickey

You know why New York State will have a Southern Tier Expressway reaching 380 miles through predominantly rural areas?

Because they have a Route 17 Association that can get together to get the job done. It's that simple.

The association was the reason, too, that Governor Rockefeller was in Jamestown yesterday to talk about the $2.5 billion bond issue that will make it possible. He was, at the time of his first term of office, firmly against going into hock with bond issues for anything. The Route 17 Association, he said yesterday, was one of the biggest influences in changing his thinking.

They had facts and figures all worked out to prove their point. But that is not the crux of the matter. The real point is to be made here is that there was cooperation between three individuals from each county, and their pulling together brought about the multi-million four-lane highway that probably will mean more to Warren County than any highway in Pennsylvania.

They avoided local issues in building the groundwork for their program of highway development. The important thing was to get the highway through their counties, developing their economic base through the attraction of industry. And they make it look so easy.

Woman Is Charged in Tulip Case

A 20-year-old Warren woman has been charged with disorderly conduct by borough police and issued a summons to appear before a peace justice for a hearing.

The charge against Mrs. Rose Suzzette Rodgers, 20, of 8 Eagan pl, stemmed from a May 4 incident when the woman and a 15-year-old county girl were caught in the act of removing some 30 tulips from the borough-owned beds in the park on the east side of the Hickory st. bridge on the south side.

The juvenile will be referred to the proper authorities for disposition in her part in the tulip affair.

The pair were spotted by Sgt. Donald E. Fitch and Officer Dennis Schmaeder on the evening in question.

Jim Reier, superintendent of the park and playground department said the blooms had been grown from bulbs new this spring and the act involved a 10-bed pattern of flowers.

Charged With Fraudulent Checks

Virgil Hebner, 21, of RD 1, Pittsfield, yesterday waived extradition and was returned to Chautauque County by New York State Police.

Hebner is charged in the neighboring state with four counts of fraudulent checks passed in the village of Clymer, according to Chief Deputy Sheriff Richard E. Heger

SPRING BLOSSOMS, A FLOWER FILLED CART greeted guests who attended the annual May Day Breakfast recently held at the Woman's Club. Planned by the Entertainment Department, its general chairman was Mrs. Harold Johnson. From 7 to 1 o'clock on that day, members of the Woman's Club were in a whirl of activity — assisting the kitchen staff and moving on swift feet to serve the two hundred who came to enjoy what was, strictly speaking, more of a brunch than a breakfast. Patrons were seated around tables in the dining room, parlors and auditorium, each having a centerpiece garly arranged with pink geraniums and Maypoles. Seated at one such table may be seen Mrs. James Barrett, Mrs. Kenneth Barrett, Mrs. Ray Brownell, Mrs. Edith Haglund, Mrs. H. A. Backstrom, Mrs. Jennie Bagley, Mrs. John Rostas, Mrs. Russell Dietrich and Mrs. Raymond Olskey. Several office staffs attended in groups, and, one enterprising hostess found it a most efficient and pleasant way to entertain twenty-seven of her friends for lunch and bridge!

AND A WELCOME TO THE NEW GIFT SHOP in town, called "Oliver's Boutique". It opened Wednesday and is under the management of Mrs. Jane Kopf and Mrs. Florence Eberly. Haven't seen it yet, but I understand from one who has, the color theme is an eye-catching Williamsburg blue for the walls, cherry red for the rugs, and touches of white here and there. Specializing in gifts and imports from such lands as Finland, Sweden, Portugal, and our own country, to name a few, one can find delicate and beautiful Florentine glass there, and original still lifes, rugged and charming, painted on wood by American artists. — Which gives some indication of the range of gifts. "Oliver's Boutique" is open daily at 11 a.m. and is located just around the corner from the A.A.A., at 17 Market street.

MINIATURES: A mother-daughter tureen banquet will be held on Monday at 6:30 p.m. in the Russell Methodist Church. Coffee and Kool-Aid will be provided. All moms and daughters of the community are invited. A program will follow.

Ann Landers

Answers Your Problems

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My dear husband was only too happy to show me your column this morning—the one in which you said a wife should not expect her husband to get up at night with small children. Why don't you retire and turn your column over to someone whose mind has not been so badly damaged by age—someone who can at least remember what life was like when her children were babies.

You said a man needs a full night's sleep so he can put in a day's work, and a mother can nap if she must. Did you say NAPS? You must be kidding. If I nap will YOU come over and do my laundry and cleaning and mending and baking and cooking? My 11-month-old is already walking. She goes for the wall plugs, eats paper and climbs furniture like a monkey. My two-year-old is as fast as a streak of lightning. If I let her out of my sight for one minute, our home would have to be declared a disaster area.

Bedtime for me is 11:30 and then I can look forward to getting up at least twice during the night with the baby who is teething or the other one who wants a bottle. And my husband should not be bothered, you say. I just about had him seeing things my way when YOU came along with this lousy column. Thanks for nothing.—READY TO DROP

DEAR READY: I still say you can nap if you want to. Or would you rather be a martyr? Maybe you can't sleep, but just getting off your feet for an hour or so will give you added energy. Try it and leave your husband alone.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: For the past 10 years I've been a secretary to a successful and attractive business man who has a reputation for entertaining women other than his wife. The office gossip has it that our boss is involved in an affair with a woman who is employed here. She is married, good looking and well liked.

The boss goes on frequent business trips. Recently, he and this woman have been absent from the office at the same time. The best guessers say they are together.

This is not my business and I don't wish to make it mine. But now the boss's wife has begun telephoning during the boss's absence—pumping me for information. She'll ask, "Is Miss Soandso in today?" Or, "I would like Miss Soandso to call me. Please see that she gets the message."

I've tried to be evasive but today she nailed me by saying, "I'll hold the phone while you go see if Miss Soandso is in." When I told her I couldn't leave my desk because I was expecting some important calls, she was furious.

My husband says as a loyal employee I must tell the boss about her inquiries. I hate being in the middle. How shall I deal with the wife? Should I tell my boss? Please advise me.—FRAC-TIONATED

DEAR FRAC: You are under no obligation to serve as a private eye for either the boss or his wife. If you are wise you'll have no part of such action.

Tell the boss's wife if she wishes to speak with Miss Soandso to call her direct. Surely Miss Soandso has a telephone at her desk. As for the boss, report nothing.

Special Papal Blessing Is Bestowed On Newlyweds

Cynthia Jean Perrett and Daniel L. Bossart were recently united in marriage at St. Joseph's Church by the Rev. Father Norman A. Smith, assistant pastor. The double ring wedding rites were observed. A special Papal Blessing from Pope Paul VI was bestowed upon the young couple after the wedding service, and a bouquet was placed at the shrine of the Blessed Virgin by the bride.

Wedding music was provided by Mrs. Thomas Donnelly at the organ and decorations included white gladioli and mums arranged in two large baskets at either side of the altar.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Eugene Perrett, 646 Beech street, and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Bossart of Bloomington, Minnesota.

On the arm of her father, the bride approached the altar in a white floor length gown of linen styled with an empire bodice with eyelet lace trim, square neckline and short bell sleeves edged in the eyelet lace. Her detachable train extended from the waist. A petal cluster with pearl and crystal drops secured her veil of French illusion. She carried a cascade bouquet of white muscand ivy leaves centered with an orchid.

The attendants, all in floor length gowns of pink crepe skirts and white and pink crocheted bodices, and crocheted detachable trains of pink and white, each carried a single long-stemmed American Beauty Rose with baby's breath and ferns, tied with white streamers. They were Janice Lies of Babbitt, Minnesota, the maid of honor; and the bridesmaid, Bonnie Bossart, sister of the groom; the flower girl, Lisa Edwards, wore a short frock of pink and carried a bouquet of white daisies and had a matching headband.

The best man was Clifford Fox of Harrisburg, uncle of the groom. Ushers were Cornelius Gallagher of Warren, Reed Douglas Perrett of Titusville, cousin of the bride, and Robert Perrett, brother of the bride. The ringbearer was Thomas D. Bell of Oil City, a cousin of the bride.

The mother of the bride selected a baby blue brocade dress with matching jacket and accessories; the mother of the groom chose a dress of pink and white wool with matching jacket and navy blue accessories. Both had corsages of white Cymbidium orchids. Grandmothers, Mrs. Agatha Nicolosi and Mrs. Dana McCutchan were both remembered with orchid corsages.

After the marriage ceremony, a reception was held in Glade Township Fire Hall with approximately one hundred guests attending from Somerville, and Wakefield, Mass.; Russell, Oil City, Pleasantville, Harrisburg and Franklin, Penna.; Minne-

Hints From Heloise

DEAR FOLKS: I just learned a terrific new way to take cigarette burns out of a cut-pile nylon rug. I am not speaking of looped pile—only the cut type.

If it's burned deeply, perhaps there's nothing you can do about it. But, if it's only a top burn, you can take a serrated knife or a pair of outsize scissors, and cut the melted coal-black part out. Do this only on the top, being sure to cut off only the burned part and do not get too deep into the pile.

Then before you do anything else, hold a piece of sandpaper over your thumb and sand briskly across the top of the cut pile ONLY.

Here's what I found this will do:

It will divide the fibers and spread the ends, thus cover up that little snipped hole!

Now, if the hole is burned too deeply, go pull some little pieces of pile out of the edge of the rug or scrape some up with a serrated knife. A serrated knife will recut the cut pile gently and you will end up with a little ball of your good old nylon filament.

Roll this ball up in the shape of that burned spot. Then put some good glue in the bottom of the little hole, and put your little ball of fibrous scrapings in the hole. Mash it down with your thumb, cover it with wax paper and weight it down with a book for two or three days. The glue will adhere to some of the fibers and thus make it practically permanent.

Some burns are so deep they will require professional mending. But the above sure works in a P-I-N-C-H. Budget-wise or time-wise!

Susan Orbanik Plans July Wedding Date

Mr. and Mrs. John A. Orbanik of Youngsville, announce the engagement of their daughter, Susan, to John W. Shea, son of Mr. and Mrs. William J. Shea of Clarendon.

Miss Orbanik was graduated from Youngsville High School and Bryant and Stratton Business Institute, Buffalo, N.Y. She is presently employed as a secretary at Dorecon, Inc. Her fiancé was graduated from Warren High School and Lock Haven State College. He received his Master's degree from Indiana University, Bloomington, Ind. Mr. Shea is presently employed at Youngsville High School.

A July wedding is being planned.

Having your meatman remove the leg bone from a ham leaves a dandy cavity for stuffing! Of course such festive treatment of a ham demands a party.

Holiday gift from the kitchen: make a batch of fudge and turn it into a foil pie pan. Don't cut the candy! Wrap it, right in the pan, and add your note of greeting.

Silver Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Ellis Martin of Youngville were honored at an open house on Sunday at the National Forge Clubhouse, Irvine. The occasion was the couple's twenty-fifth anniversary. Throughout the afternoon approximately one hundred and twenty-five guests attended to offer their congratulations.

Serving at a table centered with a four-tier anniversary cake were the Misses Phyllis, Janice and Barbara Martin, Miss Mary Kimmy, Miss Lorraine Guley and Mrs. William Martin. The guest book was managed by Miss Linda Martin and Miss Lori Neitzmick. The color theme for the affair was carried out in pink and silver.

Miss Helen Johnson and Ellis Martin were married in Bradford, Pennsylvania on May 2, 1942. They are the parents of seven children, and have ten grandchildren. The children, who hosted the affair, are: Mr. and Mrs. Harold (Martha Jean) Martin; Mr. and Mrs. Robert (Beatrice) Swanson; Mr. and Mrs. Richard (Nancy) Stockhom; Mr. and Mrs. Harry (Agatha) Neitzmick; Mr. and Mrs. William Martin; Mr. Howard Johnson, Mr. Dale Martin.

Various Relief Funds Helped By Seventh-Day Adventists

Warren Seventh-Day Adventists will contribute Saturday to the denomination's Disaster and Relief Fund. This fund last year made possible distribution of supplies worth more than twenty-one and a half million dollars. Reporting on the church's relief activities, Mrs. George Lauger, Health and Welfare leader of the local church, stated that more than 20 countries benefitted last year from the work done by the International Seventh-Day Adventist Welfare Service with which the local group cooperates.

Millions of pounds of clothing and foodstuffs were sent to poverty- and disaster-stricken lands by the church's welfare service, notes Mrs. Lauger. Medical supplies, valued at more than $150,000 were given to combat disease in numerous overseas countries. Also included in last year's relief operation was the reconstruction of many dwellings which fell before disastrous hurricanes, fires and earthquakes.

Although the local church is small, it annually distributes food, clothing and money to needy and destitute families in Warren and the surrounding areas.

The Saturday morning disaster-famine relief offering is a biennial part of the local church's giving program. In 1965 the special offering, given by some 3,300 churches of the faith in North America, totalled more than $200,000.

If you haven't enough batter to fill all the wells in a muffin pan (usually about two-thirds full), add water to the empty wells before placing the pan in the oven.

It's an oldtime trick, and still good! To decorate a sponge cake, place a paper doily (with a simple pattern) over the top of the cake and sift confectioners sugar through the holes in the pattern. Remove the doily with extreme care.

To concoct an ice cream layer cake, pack the same size pan in which you baked the layers, with ice cream and freeze. Turn out the ice cream on one layer of the cake and top with the other; wrap and freeze. Frost the cake before serving.

A New You by Emily Wilkens A Weighty Problem

A few favored females can eat, eat, eat without expanding. To them, preoccupation with poundage is a bore. It's a bore, too, for those who are trying to lose — or gain — who find their weight problems never seem to be permanently solved. It's not that most dieting programs aren't successful. The happy solution is to maintain one's new hard-earned silhouette and not slip back. To be sure the scales tip in your favor, evolve a personal plan that works for you. Check with your doctor, too, he may suggest a multi-vitamin to insure good health.

Devise a plan that you can live with — for life. Then draw up a chart to guide you. This diet dossier should cover the foods you enjoy most in three basic categories: proteins, carbohydrates and fats — as well as refreshing, revitalizing liquids.

Protein foods are the key ingredients. Meats, fish, poultry, cheeses, eggs, nuts and milk products all rebuild tissues and maintain health. If you'd love to be leaner, learn to love the "lean" varieties of protein foods. Choose lean meats, not fatty pork chops; lean poultry, such as chicken and turkey, rather than duck; "lean" cheese, cottage instead of camembert or American. If you want to add to your avoirdupois, simply reverse the procedure and adopt richer protein foods as your favorite fare.

Carbohydrates, the quick energy foods, fruits, vegetables, grains and sugar products have most recently been considered the culprits for would-be dieters. But, nonetheless, controlled amounts are necessary for the spark that makes your body engine run.

To take off pounds, take on leafy green vegetables, citrus fruits or melon. Avoid starches, bread and potatoes.

To put on pounds, give preference to natural wheat products, any fruit — fresh or dried — molasses, maple sugar or honey products.

Fats: Thin or fat, we all need a little fat daily. Include a few tablespoons of natural vegetable oil (corn, soy, safflower) in your salad dressing or cooking. This benefits your health, digestion, nails, skin and hair. A bit of butter or cream assures Vitamins A and D coverage. If you're trying to gain, gobble these up (unless you have problem skin).

Liquids: Four glasses of water and/or fresh fruit or vegetable juice a day are a must. Fresh fruit juice with carbonated water is healthier, even for slimming, and outweighs soda pop in any form.

Here are some healthful, helpful dieter's do's and don'ts: For Subtraction: Keep part of one meal to eat in-between. Always chew slowly. Choose bouillon, skim milk, cottage cheese, buttermilk, celery, carrot sticks, melon wedges, grapefruit sections and fruit or vegetable juices as your slimming snacks. Don't be a desperate dieter. If you succumb to strawberry shortcake today, get back to your charted plan tomorrow. For Addition: If you need to gain weight, try to rest before and after eating and have soft, soothing music with meals. Eat sweet foods after meals only. Before bed, drink a build-up milk shake made with a ripe banana, honey and date sugar whirled in your blender. Don't ever skip meals!

For Everybody: Whether you're trying to lose, gain or maintain your weight, remember to keep the emphasis on proteins three times a day to make your food make the most (or least) of A NEW YOU.

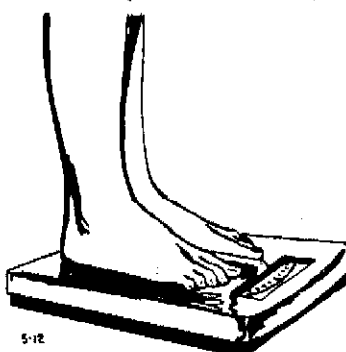

JUST FOR YOU: Rely on the pinch test as well as the scale to measure your progress. If you can't pinch more than one or two inches of flesh at your waistline and behind your hip bone, you're just right!

The Halls Of Ivy

Margaret Scalise, daughter of Mrs. Rose Scalise of 119 North South street, was named to the mid-semester Dean's List for scholarship at the Erie Business Center. It was announced today by Dr. Charles Williamson. Miss Scalise is a WAHS graduate and a freshman in the Executive Secretarial Course at EBC.

Jerry Berdine, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. T. Berdine, a graduate of Rochester Business Institute, now attending Ricker College in Houlton, Maine, has become well known on campus through his membership in Activities such as Kappa Beta fraternity, student government, student judiciary board, the resident assistant's program and Snowball Weekend. He is enrolled in Liberal Arts. From Ricker he plans to go into the field of accounting.

Named to the Dean's List at The Pennsylvania State University are the following area stu-

Warren Grange held its regular meeting and a brief memorial when the charter was draped in memory of Nellie Samuelson, recently. The lecturer's program was in the charge of the Home Economics chairman Lucille Johnson.

For the program there were several readings on the subject of "Mothers"; a game was played, with Jean Arnold the winner; a quiz on famous mothers was given.

Youngville Aux. Entertain Gold Star Mothers

The Halgren-Wilcox Unit No. 658, American Legion Auxiliary of Youngville had for guests of honor at a luncheon dinner on Tuesday, members of the Gold Star Mothers. Each guest was presented a corsage.

Mother-daughter prizes were won by Mrs. Frank Bauer, oldest mother present; Mrs. Jerry Wise, youngest mother present; Mrs. Ralph Sullivan, mother with the most children; Cindy Howe, youngest auxiliary member; Kim Wise, youngest child present. Mrs. Florence Hyde won the white elephant prize.

The principal speaker for the affair was the Keystone Girl, Miss Connie Chappel, who told of her experiences last summer. She was accompanied by her mother, Mrs. Noyd Chappel. Another special guest was Miss Linda Hannold, the 1967 Keystone Girl chosen to attend the Keystone Girls State this summer. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Hannold.

The business meeting was presided over by Mrs. Milton Brown, president, who announced that the Blood Bank will be in Youngville on May 17, and that Poppy Days will be May 18 and 19.

Hostesses were Mrs. Ross Davis and Mrs. Glenn Patch.

Blue Stockings Final Meeting Until Autumn

The ladies of the Blue Stocking Club held their final meeting until next autumn when they met on Tuesday for a luncheon at the Jackson Valley Country Club.

Routine business was conducted by the president, Mrs. James Cousins and elections were held with the following named to serve for the new term: President, Mrs. James Cousins; vice president, Mrs. Norman Johnson; secretary, Mrs. John Redeliff; treasurer, Mrs. Arthur Lydell.

A program of "Just Non-sense" was enjoyed. Mrs. Laverne Hull, Mrs. Lee Thompson and Mrs. John Lang were on committee for the day.

Teachers Sorority Has 'Creativity' Series Meeting

Delta Kappa Gamma members held a dessert meeting at the home of Mrs. Mary Jane Hubbard. Serving as hostesses with Mrs. Hubbard were Mrs. Janice Logan, chairman, Mrs. Arlene Whitehill, and Mrs. Dorothy Burton. The business meeting followed the serving of dessert with Miss Lois Lillie, president, presiding.

The program was arranged by Mrs. Elizabeth Perkins, chairman, Miss Alice Anderson and Mrs. Marjorie Dorrien. Conforming to the theme of the program for the year "Nurturing Creativity of Us as Women" as a means of bringing to the memberships' attention the creativeness of each person. A varying array of ideas and projects were given and/or shown. Members agreed that the creativeness shown tended to prove that each person has creative instincts and that these will come to light when the time or the occasion demands them.

At the conclusion of the program, slides of the fall workshop held in Warren were shown by Miss Jean Steele. Also shown were pictures of the installation dinner of the chapter held in January, 1966, in what was then the Carver Hotel.

Grange Notes

The cake making contest was judged with the following declared prize winners: First, Marjorie Werle; 2nd, Edith Briggs; 3rd, Gladys Simones. The first place winner will bring her cake to Pomona tomorrow at Forest Grange.

The next regular meeting of Warren Grange will be on Monday, May 15, at 8 p.m. The lecturer's program will be in charge of the chaplain, Mildred Marlett for the Memorial Service.

Forest Grange 853 will host Pomona Grange 10 tomorrow. The grange hall is located six miles out of Tionesta. The meeting will open at 10 a.m. with reports of all granges and home economics programs. Judges will be present to report on the winners of the Mothers Day baking and decorating cake contest; and, the county winners of the dress-making contest. The first prize dress will go on to be judged at the state level.

Memorial services for all deceased members of grange will be held in the afternoon with Gladys Simones of Warren Grange in charge. Afterwards mothers and fathers will be

Opening lead King of ♣

Failure to make the most of his limited line of communications caused South to fumble away his four heart contract

West opened the king of clubs and the ace was played from dummy. Declarer decided to test trumps first by cashing the ace and king of hearts. When all hands followed, South temporarily permitted the jack of hearts to remain outstanding while he switched his attentions to the spade suit.

A small spade was led to the ace and on the return, declarer successfully finessed his jack. He tried to cash the king, however, West ruffed in, and the defenders proceeded to cash one club and two diamonds to register a one trick setback.

Observe, that it would not have helped South to draw the last trump, for dummy lacks the entry required to repeat the spade finesse. It was declarer's hope that if the spades did not divide evenly the hand with the four spades would also hold three trumps. In that case, South would be able to safely ruff out his last spade with dummy's ten of hearts.

A three-three division of the outstanding spades was not favored by the odds, and declarer's handling of the suit was based on a somewhat remote prospect. A better plan of campaign—in the opinion of this department—is to arrange for repeated finessses in spades. Inasmuch as communication with the dummy is severely restricted, South should begin his operations in the spade suit at once.

It is suggested that when West's club opening dislodges one of North's two entries at the opening gun, declarer should lead the deuce of spades and take a first round finesse in his hand. When the ten of spades holds, for he is in position to reenter the dummy subsequently with the ace of spades to repeat the finesse.

Your Horoscope

By Frances Drake

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars, FOR FRIDAY, MAY 12, 1967.

ARIES (March 21 to April 20)—The opportunities are at hand to be used aptly by an ingenious YOU. Seek negotiations with those who are hampering general advancement.

TAURUS (April 21 to May 21)—The "usual way" may not be good enough now. But take care not to go too far out on the experimental limb. Resourcefulness, excellent in this Sign, needed.

GEMINI (May 22 to June 21)—Don't let spasmodic effort take the place of diligent, consistent endeavor. Throughout the week-end, smooth action and thinking will be a "must."

CANCER (June 22 to July 23)—Facts, not fancies, are the order of the day. Be among the first to recognize a good suggestion and back it. Don't leave one duty unfinished for another except where imperative.

LEO (July 24 to August 23)—Opportunities come in many forms and often the best are overlooked. Be astute now and seek only the worthwhile. Broaden your outlook, knowledge.

VIRGO (August 24 to September 23)—Transplant "live wire" ideas into brisk quality action. Implement your program with the thorough thinking that afforded past successes.

LIBRA (September 24 to October 23)—Welcome a fresh approach or plan, but study it in detail before going ahead. Have full knowledge and data in anything you undertake. Exceptional progress possible.

SCORPIO (October 24 to November 22)—On the whole, ordinary matters can go along uninterrupted, but there may be snags, tricky spots in less familiar areas, which will call for more care.

SAGITTARIUS (November 23 to December 21)—Make decisions with regard for all concerned. Put yourself in a calm, progressive frame of mind and be ready to adjust to varying situations.

CAPRICORN (December 22 to January 20)—Buildup your way through difficult assignments, if need be. But this does NOT mean that you should be obstinate or unyielding when certain situations call for different tactics.

AQUARIUS (January 21 to February 19)—A transition period is indicated. Study it, evaluate it, THEN act on it.

PISCES (February 20 to March 20)—Reject certain suggestions but be sure you know your ground for doing so. Choice opportunities are yours for the searching. So make an extra effort to see them first.

YOU BORN TODAY: You reach quick conclusions but with logic, nonetheless. On the whole, you are conservative, and rarely "follow the crowd." Your persistence, energy and personal magnetism are outstanding characteristics. You combine the artistic and the practical in an unusual manner; could succeed in business or at any of the arts; could even reach the top in two separate and distinct careers. Birthdate of: Dante Gabriel Rossetti, poet, painter; Florence Nightingale, founder of modern nursing.

How to Keep Well

By Dr. T. R. Van Dellen

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when returned stamped envelope is inclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

REPLACEMENT FOR THE GALLBLADDER
 A Blue Island, Ill., woman asks a sensible question: "My gall-bladder was removed last month because it was filled with stones. What replaces the gallbladder and will more stones reform?" This pear-shaped reservoir concentrates and stores bile between meals. Upon removal its function is taken over by the bile duct cells in the liver.

occurs when they pass through the bile duct on their way to the intestine. Greasy and fried foods, rich pastries, and oily salad dressings are taboo before surgery, but can be tried after the operation. Beans, cabbage, onions, radishes, cucumbers, corn, and cauliflower may induce gas with bloating and belching. This, however, can occur with or without the organ.

Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request.

Bile is manufactured constantly in the liver by cells lining thousands of ducts. It contains chemicals that help digest fats and oils in food. The passageways collect the material and route it into the main liver outlet. From here it passes into the gallbladder for storage and is discharged into the intestine after each meal.

When the wall of the gall-bladder is infected and clogged with stones the bile ducts in the liver replace the action of the gallbladder long before surgery is done. In other words the liver takes over when the gallbladder ceases to function.

Gallstones are hard concretions that form when the organ is diseased. The gallbladder lining is irritated in the beginning and the stones increase the irritation. Stones rarely form after the operation because most of these concretions develop in the gallbladder. In rare instances calculi form in the liver ducts. So instead of emptying out the stones and cleaning out the ducts, the organ is removed to prevent stones from re-forming.

Inflammation of the gallbladder causes most of the symptoms of the disease. Occasionally stones escape and enter

UP WITH CHICKENS
 L. M. Q. writes: What makes me waken two hours before the alarm goes off?

REPLY
 It is possible that six hours is enough sleep for you. Insomnia plays strange tricks. Some sufferers find it difficult to get to sleep; others especially when depressed, waken too early. At any rate, when you awaken, relax. Don't spend two hours fussing and stewing because you can't get back to sleep.

UNDETECTED BLEEDING
 M.E.A. writes: Could a peptic ulcer bleed without the victim's knowing it?

REPLY
 Yes, and this occurs frequently. Blood is detected through a chemical analysis of the stools. With more pronounced bleeding the stool becomes black in color. When hemorrhage is massive the victim vomits material that resembles coffee grounds and becomes pale, weak, and faint.

No Driving After Midnight

HARRISBURG (AP)—Traffic Safety Commissioner Harry H. Brainerd reminded teen-agers between 16 and 18 Monday that they may not drive with their junior drivers' licenses between midnight and 5 a.m. unless accompanied by a parent or legal guardian. Brainerd said the advent of daylight savings time in Pennsylvania had no effect on the permissible hours of the junior licenses.

Caballeros Join Local Music Scene

By JIM SEELEY

One of the few purely instrumental groups in the area not associated with a school is the Caballeros.

This brightly-clad group was organized by John Mahan and Craig Stoldt in preparation for last year's talent assembly at W.A.H.S.

The members of the group are Clayton Breit and John Mahan on trumpet, Dave Flick on trombone, Tom Lauffenburger on drums, Craig Stoldt on saxophone, and Steve West on electric guitar.

The Caballeros specialize in the quasi-American style of music made popular by Herb Alpert and the Tijuana Brass. In addition they play dance music.

In the past the Caballeros have played for the '66 and '67 W.A.H.S. talent assemblies, for the Lions Club, at the W.A.H.S. band concert, for the Methodist Ladies Circle, for the Kinzua Campers at the Buckaloons, for the Y.M.C.A., on the back of a truck for the Warren Sidewalk Festival Days, for the State Hospital adolescent Christmas party, for the V.F.W., at the '67 Dance Band Clinic at W.A.H.S. by the request of Mr. Daniel Harpster, for the Cooties, and in the '67 W.A.H.S. Gym Show at Warren and Sheffield.

All of the members of the group attend W.A.H.S. Craig Stoldt and Dave Flick are Seniors. Clayton Breit, John Mahan, Steve West, and Tom Lauffenburger are Juniors.

Although they have no connection with the school, the group would like to thank Mr. Daniel Harpster, the director of the W.A.H.S. band and orchestra for the assistance he has given them in getting the group started and in inviting them to play in several of the W.A.H.S. band's programs.

Tonight the Caballeros are playing for a prom at Clarion Jr.-Sr. High School. They have had offers to play for dances in this area and hope to have a dance sometime in the future.

Safe Driving Topic Of Youngsville Meet

By DIANNE HANNOLD and SUE MACKS

Mr. John Conroy, a representative of the Nationwide Insurance Company, presented an assembly to the 10-11-12 grades on May 8, 1967.

A film "Nobody's Got It Made With The Tiger" was shown after which Mr. Conroy made a few remarks.

The rest of the program was held on College Street. Mr. Conroy had a specially equipped Plymouth Fury II. The object of the demonstration was to test reaction time, braking time and total stopping distance.

The car is equipped with three .38 pistols which are connected to the front bumper. When a certain speed is reached the first gun is fired (reaction), then when the foot is put on the brake the second gun fires (braking), when

Eisenhower Holds Senior Spring Event

By CINDY GLOTZ and MITZI BREZEE

This week, the senior band and senior choir of Eisenhower High School performed in their annual Spring Concert. It was held in the high school auditorium. P. Allen Searle directed the program. Mr. Searle is the new band and choir director at Eisenhower this year. He has filled the vacancy left by Albert Lyford.

A few of the selections presented by the choir were: "America our Heritage," "The Sound of Music," and "Born Free." A piano duet featured Trudy Stanton and Danny Troxell, both seniors. They played the selection, "Rhapsody in Blue."

Some of the numbers presented by the band were: "Appalachian Suite" which contains three parts, "Four Episodes For Band" consisting of four songs, and a favorite of most, "Mancini" featuring three.

The band and choir regret the loss of their senior members upon graduation. These members are: choir—sopranos, Suzann Shield and Patsy Werner; alto—Kathy Peterson and Susan Webster; tenor—John Cable, Tom Eggleston, Dave Flasher and Christine Stuart; bass—Jeff Barrett, Ed Braley, Dan Pratz, John Tutmaher, Dave VanCise, and Denny Voty.

Senior band members: oboe—Fae Lindell; clarinet—Fayth Thomas; alto clarinet—Suzann Shield; bassoon—Trudy Stanton; alto sax—Gloria Lindell; tenor sax—Suzie Fisk; cornet—Susan Webster; trombone—Dave Wilcox; baritone—Dan Troxell; tympani—Christine Stuart.

Mr. Searle wishes to thank all persons connected with making the program such a big success, also those people who attended the concert.

Tidioute In Brief

By CARL PILLAR

A senior yearbook meeting was held Tuesday, and the seniors report that much of the publication is ready for printing. Anyone still wishing to place an ad in the annual should contact the seniors immediately.

A dance will be sponsored Saturday May 13 in the school gymnasium by the Parent-Teachers Association. Music will be by the Tidioute High School popular band.

Plans have been completed for the senior all-night party to be held at Limestone Lanes on May 19. Seniors have been permitted to invite two guests to the gala affair which starts at midnight.

New Senior National Honor Society members are slated to be inducted Thursday before a school assembly.

Warren Play Rehearsal Is Continuing

By ZENO HENNINGER

During the last few weeks, the Dramatics class in Warren Area High School has been working on a play called "No Boys Allowed" by Jean Provenca.

It is a three act farce and is under the direction of Mr. Howard Ferguson.

The time of the play is in spring, when a boys' fancy turns to love. All while the plot is going on, a Mister Midnight is prowling the neighborhood to add to the plot.

It will be put on at the Warren State Hospital next week. Players are:

Mr. Midnight—Mike Wood
Rita Baxter—Judy Person
Jane Baxter—Kay Durendetter
Victrola—Linda McNutt
Fred Dana—Doug Coates
Leroy Doyle—Tom Beach
Evelina Cook—Jane Nasky
Belinda Elliot—Cathy Jenkins
Nada Owens—Debbie Zawaki
Patsy Farrel—Sue Malone
O'Brien—Terry Hawk
Keith Garland—Ron Rieff
Harvey Smith—Gary Smith
Mrs. Dana—Eunice Faulkner
Student directors are Leslie Stein and Denny Lane.

Sheffield Holds Driving Assembly

Monday, May 8, grades 10, 11, and 12 of Sheffield High School were presented with an assembly on safe driving.

Mr. Conroy presented a movie about an accident involving teen-agers. This was followed by a talk on driving hazards by Mr. Powley.

Following this the students were taken outside and a demonstration was held concerning stopping distance at different speeds. Sandy Hecci, a student of S. H. S., drove the demonstration car at a certain speed and when a gun was fired she applied the brakes. This was also done by Rick Stanko, a student at S. H. S.; Mr. Leroy Brush, a member of the Sheffield Fire Department; and State Trooper Gary Rain.

The students of S. H. S. found this assembly very helpful.

Warren High Events Calendar

Final PIXies Winner

Jerry Slacks, the teenager who won the first PIXies contest of the Warren Times-Mirror and Observer, is the winner of the final contest in the series as well.

The contest closes with this week's entry because of (1) lack of sufficient entries, and (2) increased demand to use the space for teenage news.

Warren Hi Prom Set Tomorrow

By LINDA BARNEY

The time is finally arriving for the W.A.H.S. Junior-Senior Prom which is going to be held on Saturday, May 27.

The Juniors have been making plans for the prom since early last fall, and for the past three or four months they have been having work bees not only weekly, but whenever it is at all possible.

They have been working not only at the school, but in barns, basements, garages, and whatever else space is available.

Since they are working almost all the time now, it isn't an uncommon sight anymore to see a carful or truckful of Juniors loaded down with wood, paint, hammers, and other such articles, and from what I hear, employees at various stores and the Red Barn, are finally getting used to seeing groups of teenagers coming in with sloppy clothes on that are covered with paint, paste, and everything else imaginable.

Although the Juniors are making everything entirely by themselves, there are some things of which they are in desperate need, such as plain white unfitted sheets, blue laundry hags, card tables, outside flood lights, and two high-backed wicker chairs.

If anybody would like to loan or give the class any of these things, it would be greatly appreciated.

All you have to do is put your name and address on the article, and take it up to the school. It will then be returned immediately following the prom.

If you wish for someone to pick the article up at your home, please call 723-1671, and the item will be picked up at your convenience. The Juniors are working hard on this prom to make it a success, and with your help, it will turn out not only to be a success, but the greatest prom the high school has ever had.

THE RED BERETS

Youngsville Girls Supporting Track

By SUE MACKS

and DIANNE HANNOLD

The Red Berets of Youngsville High School are now beginning their 3rd year of service at the Eagle track meets.

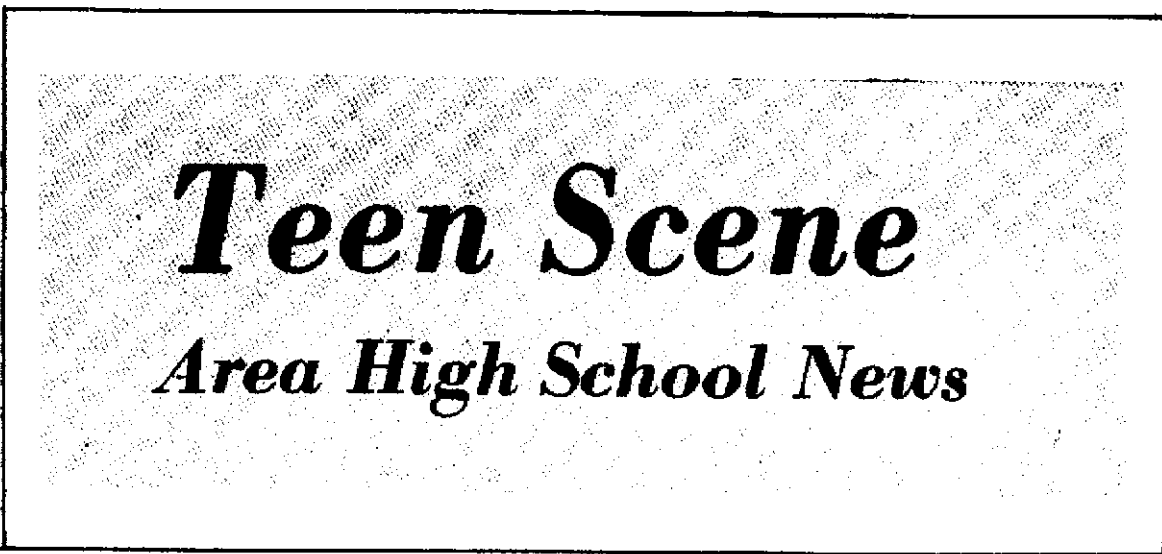

These 17 girls act as officials and timekeepers at track and field events. They are in charge of keeping the official records for schools, records for Mr. Toby Shea, the Eagle coach, and records for the local newspapers. They also do the announcing over the field P.A. system.

Besides these duties, three girls from the Red Berets, along with a teacher, are in charge of lining up, measuring and announcing the winners for each field event.

Each year five new members are elected into the Red Berets from the 9th grade class. These girls remain in the Berets until they graduate, as long as they maintain an 80 average and follow the Red Beret charter.

There are 17 current members of the Red Berets. Allison Comfort, the A.F.S. exchange student from New Zealand, is an honorary member. Current members are:

Youngsville-Junior-Senior Prom Scheduled for Tonite

By SUE MACKS

and DIANNE HANNOLD

This year as in past years, the Junior Class of Youngsville High is sponsoring the annual Junior-Senior Prom for the Seniors.

As has been tradition in the past, the theme for the prom has been kept a secret until the day of the prom when it is announced to the public and students.

The graduating class of 1967 has seen a variety of colorful and romantic prom themes throughout their years at Y.H.S. As 7th graders they saw their

Eisenhower Prom Set Tomorrow

and MITZI BREZEE

Tomorrow night the juniors and seniors of Eisenhower High School will be enjoying a night of splendor at their annual junior-senior prom.

The prom, which is planned and organized by the junior class each year, will begin promptly at 8:00 p.m. The theme the juniors have chosen this year will be "Evening by the Sea." Couples will dance until 11:00 to the music of the "Etudes" from Johnsonburg.

King and queen of the prom have been announced. Reigning over the formal affair, will be seniors Dan Larson and Susan Fisk. Senior attendants will be Gary Fry and Karen Penley. From the junior class, Bill North and Karen Wade are attendant. In the court and Dick Hale and Amy Bowen are the crowners. At approximately 9:00, the grand march will begin, where the court and the junior and senior officers and their dates will proceed to the king and queen's throne. After this eventful formality, dancing will resume.

Refreshments, including punch and cookies, will be served by sophomores, Shirley Passinger, Pam Johnson, Nancy Wilcox, and Marcia Fisk.

Following the formal dance, the students will go to the White Way Drive-In in Starbrick. All students wishing to go will remain all night. There will be dancing in the concession stand with Jim Roselli as the disc jockey. Also, two movies will be shown for everyone's viewing pleasure. The price of the tickets will be $3.50 per couple.

The all-night party will be chaperoned by the parents of some of the junior and senior students.

This is going to be a night that will always be remembered and treasured in the hearts of the juniors and seniors. It will be a wonderful evening, as the juniors have planned it well. Now all we need is a warm, sunny day to start off a perfectly wonderful night.

What's It Like to Be Kissed?

— by Duke Ellington ?

By KAYE GORENFLO

The Warren High School Dance Band (both Blue and White), recently made a trip to Kleinhan's Music Hall in Buffalo.

Appearing at Kleinhan's were Duke Ellington, Oscar Peterson, and Ella Fitzgerald. This trip was made possible by the use of the funds the band had accumulated throughout the year.

One of the members of the Dance Band, a senior, Mary Shellgran, had a special treat while in Buffalo. A photographer approached her and asked if she would please pose for a picture with Mr. Ellington for the Buffalo Courier Express. Mary was happy to oblige and the celebrated entertainer thanked her with a kiss.

The Dance Band left Warren High School immediately after school on Friday, the 10th, and traveled by bus to Buffalo. The only expense which the members had to meet was for their dinner. Returning home very late that night, the group agreed that it had been an entertaining and enjoyable evening. And for Mary Shellgran, the evening is especially memorable.

OTHERWISE KNOWN AS APTITUDE TESTS

Students Experience 'Brain Drain'

By ZENO HENNINGER

Last Saturday, a group of students went through the ordeal known as the "brain drain," better known as the Scholastic Aptitude Test.

This is one of the major yardsticks used by colleges and other schools for admission.

It starts off with getting up early Saturday morning. A process that many students aren't used to.

After arriving at the high school, you are assigned to a room where the three-hour test is given. The examination is passed out and all information is filled out to assure a proper return of scores to the student. Then, the advisor in the room says the magic word of "Go." The test is opened and hopefully begun.

The first part is mainly in the field of English with sections in: vocabulary (where did they get these words???), sentence structure, and interpretation of a historical or scientific theme. Then comes the math.

It is a time test and all try to work as fast as is possible without, to quote the instruction book, "sacrificing accuracy."

After a while, little irritations start appearing like the blast of cold air on your neck, or that car which keeps driving past. The problems that you aren't able to do discourage you but still you might as well keep going.

At noon the test is finished except for some that take the Achievement tests.

These are specialized tests for certain people who will go to colleges that require them. There are tests in history, math, English, science, and foreign languages. A maximum of three may be taken and this could give a person up to six hours of working on one test.

As you finish, there is the satisfaction of taking the test. There is also the thought on some students' head that they have to take it again next year. But that is over eight months away, why worry?

It seems unfair that one test can keep you out of college.

IN NEW DEPARTMENT

Federal Programs Stripped of Power

(c) N.Y. Times News Service WASHINGTON — Administrators of all programs within the Department of Health, Education and Welfare were stripped this week of civil rights enforcement powers.

Secretary John W. Gardner announced the major shift, which places all civil rights compliance activities within his office. Gardner said that he had acted under a congressional mandate of nearly a year ago that he consolidate civil rights enforcement within his sprawling department.

Until now, five bureau chiefs, including Harold Howe II, the United States commissioner of education, have handled civil rights enforcement in conjunction with the programs they administer.

They have had the power to set desegregation guidelines and to cut off funds to schools or other institutions found not in compliance.

Howe has become the principal target of southern congressional discontent over school desegregation guidelines.

Secretary Gardner said Wednesday that he has "complete confidence" in Howe.

"He has done a tremendous job under extremely difficult circumstances," Gardner said. "He has served the American people well. Nothing in this change should be taken as a reflection on his standing within the administration."

Howe, who was present at today's news conference, said that he was completely satisfied with the shift.

"Our policies are clearly supported by the courts," he said. "It's not as necessary now, as it formerly was, for those of us directly involved in education to have a role in civil rights compliance."

Asked if the shift meant "transferring the kitchen across the street"—that is, transferring the heat from Howe to the secretary's office—Gardner smiled a little wanly and replied, "I wouldn't be surprised."

Gardner said there would be no change in desegregation guidelines.

"We're merely administering the law," he asserted. Gardner said he had discussed the shift with the White House and "about six civil rights leaders." He said the civil rights leaders had adopted a "wait-and-see attitude."

The congressional mandate for consolidation of civil rights functions was handed down last year by a subcommittee that handles H.R.W. appropriations.

Renewed demands for the consolidation were made this week by the new subcommittee chairman, Daniel Flood of Pennsylvania, after southerners appeared before his group to demand that no money be given to education unless the desegregation guidelines were curtailed.

Gardner tailored his reorganization to insulate program administrators—principally Howe—from any decision-making role in civil rights compliance.

Those who administer the programs will have no hand in selection of cases against which noncompliance action will be taken nor in the termination of funds.

Instead, hearing examiners working out of the secretary's office will hand down decisions which, in turn, will be reviewed by "an administrative tribunal."

James said he had increased the insurance but was not yet certain of the coverage.

In a few minutes, a front door window of the building was smashed, a front door window opened and a selected assortment of higher priced chain saws taken along with two hedge trimmers.

Police chief Elmer Jones said it is believed an organized gang which has hit many operations such as Modern Way is responsible.

A porcupine has about 30,000 quills.

Senators Debating Draft Plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — Three Senate critics of the Vietnam war are trying to limit effects of the draft.

Their principal opponent in the current Senate debate is chairman Richard B. Russell of the Armed Services Committee, a strong supporter of President Johnson's Vietnam policy.

As Congress debated the question Wednesday, the Pentagon announced it would call up 19,900 men for the army in July. This is the highest monthly call-up of the year.

Russell is urging the Senate to approve Johnson's request for a four-year extension of the draft law. But the Senate first will consider amendments by Sens. Mark O. Hatfield, R-Ore., Stephen M. Young, D-Ohio, and Ernest Gruening, D-Alaska. All three oppose Johnson's war policy.

Lt. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, director of Selective Service, told the House Armed Services Committee Wednesday he favors continuing college deferments for undergraduate students. Russell also favors this.

Hershey also announced the selective service system is discontinuing its college qualification tests.

Since last May, nearly one million students have taken the 150-question tests, with the scores made part of the draft board records.

Hershey said the tests will not be offered in the fall with the question of student draft deferments unsettled.

Penn State to Offer Chinese Language Course

UNIVERSITY PARK—Chinese will be added to the language program at the Pennsylvania State University next fall, marking another major step in the University's plans to build up emphasis on non-Western studies.

Dr. Arthur O. Lewis, associate dean of the College of the Liberal Arts, said the new course would be taught by Mrs. Chang Yu Nien-Tze, part-time instructor and wife of Dr. Chen-Chi Chang, associate professor of religious studies and Penn State's expert on Zen Buddhism and Buddhist philosophy.

"Anyone is eligible for the new course and those finishing the three terms will have met the liberal arts language requirement of 12 credits," Dr. Lewis said.

He said that the University hopes to add a second year of Chinese for the academic year 1968-69.

Mrs. Chang will work with an advisory committee in developing these courses.

The tribunal, Gardner said, is likely to be composed of three nongovernment persons, perhaps lawyers. The tribunal would issue the orders to cut off funds.

A total of 278 persons work on civil rights staffs in the department. They are in the office of education, the public health service, public welfare, vocational rehabilitation, the office of aging, the office of the secretary, the general counsel's office and in field coordination.

'WITCH HUNT' CHARGED

Levy Court Martial Opens

By Del booth

COLUMBIA, S. C. (AP) — A civilian attorney told an Army general court-martial Wednesday its trial of Capt. Howard B. Levy "is a witch hunt" because of the man's political beliefs.

Levy, 30, a doctor on the Army's hospital staff at nearby Ft. Jackson, went on trial before a 10-member panel of high ranking officers, four of whom are veterans of the Vietnam fighting.

He is charged on five counts of refusing to obey an order that he train Vietnam-bound Army Special Forces medics in the treatment of skin diseases. Levy is a dermatologist.

The Brooklyn, N.Y., native's defense is being handled by lawyers for the American Civil Liberties Union.

The trial panel is composed of four majors, four lieutenant colonels and two full colonels. The trial officer is Col. Earl V. Brown of the Army's judge adjutant general's staff.

Morgan asked the panel to dismiss the case, citing a federal tax case he said was reversed by an appeals court which held that political beliefs motivated inception of that case.

He told Col. Brown "it is apparent" that the charges were brought against Capt. Levy by Col. Henry F. Fanc, commander of the Ft. Jackson hospital, because Fanc was "horrified" at finding someone of Levy's liberal philosophy under his command.

Col. Brown retorted, "I'm not going to let this forum be used by a person of the far right to vent his vengeance on one of the far left."

Levy could get a maximum of eight years in prison if convicted.

Local Authorities Becoming Booming Business

BY VINCENT P. CAROCCI
HARRISBURG (AP) — It took 20 years for the authority business to boom in Pennsylvania. But once it did, it simply began to grow and grow.

Records of the Pennsylvania Department of State show that more and more municipal governments have been reverting over the past decade or so to authority borrowing as a means of providing services demanded by their townspeople.

Consider these facts: Between 1935, with the passage of the first General Municipal Authority Act by the state legislature, and 1955, only 867 local authorities were certified with the state.

But in the past 12 years, 1,133 local borrowing agencies have come into being. The 2000th and 201st were certified by the State Department as recently as May 3.

Why did the state empower local governments to get into the authority business in the first place? Or why this proliferation of authorities over the past decade?

There doesn't seem to be a simple answer to either question.

There was no debate 32 years ago when the first local authority act was approved over-whelmingly in both the state House and Senate.

Nor was there in 1937, when the act was amended, or in 1945 when it was repealed.

There was, however, a passing reference prior to the Senate vote in 1935 that the legislation was designed to "provide for all the different interests" connected with the expanded public works programs of President Franklin D. Roosevelt.

The original act stipulated that no authority could be created or project initiated two years after the effective date of the act.

That two-year limitation was wiped out by an amendment in 1937, and the life of an authority was expanded from 32 to 50 years.

In 1945, the legislature wrote a new authority act eliminating

IN THE CLASSROOM, ANYHOW

By FRED M. HECHINGER

(c) N. Y. Times News Service

MOSCOW — Independent study, that old standby of the American high school, promises to become a major ingredient of the next Soviet school reform. It is a topic of speculation and debate among Soviet educators.

Some of the more daring school administrators predict that a cautious invitation to try their hand at independent academic work will be issued to high school seniors and juniors in many schools next year.

In a system that has for years prescribed rigidly every course and every hour of study, it is revolutionary to encourage students to work on their own, without the crutch of the syllabus and the threat of an examination.

The first problem will be to teach students what to do with their freedom. Since most teachers, in the tradition of European secondary education, are suspicious of

There are several reasons advanced by state officials for the dramatic increase in the number of authorities in the past 12 years.

The first, quite obviously, is the debt limit imposed on local governments by the Constitution of 1874.

Until last year, local governments were permitted to borrow only up to 2 per cent of their assessed property valuation without prior voter approval and up to 7 per cent with it.

The electorate approved last year a constitutional amendment increasing those limits to 7 per cent without approval and 15 per cent with it.

Still, the officials say, municipal governments generally have been confronted with growing populations. This, in turn, has resulted in growing demands for services such as water supply and sewage treatment that could not be met by direct borrowing.

Authorities have no limit on the amount that can be borrowed, thus providing an easy way to circumvent the constitutional restrictions.

In addition, the tax-paying citizenry has demonstrated a predictable reluctance to approve higher borrowing by their local governments.

The authority method avoids the necessity of mounting an organized educational campaign to convince the electorate that it should approve the expenditure of money for services the people seem to be demanding.

Most officials hold that authority borrowing is a more expensive way of doing business than direct borrowing referendums, where the taxing-power of the government body is offered as a guarantee that the bonds will be repaid.

The General State Authority, the state's largest borrowing agency, currently is selling bonds at an interest rate close to 4 per cent.

Interest on local bonds runs generally in that range, but will vary according to the economic condition of the locale and the type of issue floated. School bonds, for example, will sell cheaper than parking authority bonds.

Simply put, authority financing is the easiest way to obtain funds without an immediate increase in taxes to provide services or facilities.

The authority floats the bonds constructs the project and leases it to the governmental body concerned, in the instance, for example, of a school building. Or it can pay off the bonds by charging fees for the service provided, such as a sewerage system or parking facility.

In spite of the fact that the tax-paying public is going to pay for an authority project in one fashion or another, State Department records would indicate that these borrowing agencies will continue to flourish in future years.

Eighty-six local authorities were created between 1965 and 1966. Forty have been certified by the state through the first four months of the year.

Soviet Education Stressing Independence

The American concept of allowing pupils freedom of choice, a good deal of passive resistance to the idea is expected.

The difficulty of switching gears from an almost entirely prescribed to a more freewheeling curriculum is apparent in efforts to implement a related reform proposal—offering at least four hours of elective subjects on top of the approximately 30 hours of required subjects each week.

Visits to classrooms revealed that to the students an elective course simply meant an extra course in one of the required subjects—a slightly more advanced course in mathematics, chemistry, physics, or perhaps extra hours in literature, although this is less likely.

Nevertheless, the introduction of electives has been an invaluable transition into a more open approach to education. But perhaps even more promising is the fact that the academic thaw coincides with these important phenomena:

—The official line that has recently come down from the education authorities is that the old school has failed to make students think on their own.

—The prospect of the introduction of independent work comes at the very moment when the six-day work week is to be replaced by a five-day week.

While, in the general economy, the introduction of the two-day weekend, expected to take place within a year, will be accompanied by the addition of one extra daily hour of work on Monday through Friday, this will be a problem in many schools, which continue to operate on double shifts.

But, as one principal said, this may be the opportunity for independent study. Instead of adding the extra daily hour, the schools may be able to ask their older students to use part of their Saturday to demonstrate what they are able to do on their own.

This is made even more plausible by the fact that in recent years homework over the weekend has been discouraged and, in many schools, abolished.

Educators not only tend to be instinctively dubious about the students' readiness to guide their own academic careers, but are also conscious of the fact that they are judged according to their students' success.

Consequently, many teachers are likely to urge their students to use their independent study time to cram for their tests in the required subjects.

Despite these limitations the beginning of challenge to let students strike out on their own is likely to have profound long-range effects on Soviet education, especially as a new generation of teachers takes over.

Candidate Would Give Money Back to County

By GIL MURRAY

Pocono Record Writer
STROUDSBURG, Pa. (AP) — Carl A. Yost is promising that if elected he will give Monroe County the bulk of fees and commissions he will earn as county register of wills and recorder of deeds.

His reasoning underscores the fantastic land boom now taking place in the county, which is the heart of the Poconos and the center of the federal government's $200 million Tocks Island project.

According to state law, the register and recorder in seventh and eighth class counties are paid by fees and commissions, rather than a salary.

Yost, a 23-year-old school teacher, is one of four candidates in next Tuesday's primary. He is a Republican.

A shy, almost retiring young man, Yost pledges that he will keep only $8,500 a year in fees and commissions and return everything above that to the county general fund after income taxes are paid. The office now pays about $25,000, which is believed to be more money than is paid to any other elected county official in Pennsylvania.

How can a register and recorder in Monroe County with a population of slightly less than 50,000 earn that much money? The bulk of the money earned by the register and recorder comes from fees collected for recording deeds.

The county has experienced a klondike-like land rush for the past several years. Noisy New Yorkers and Philadelphians are gobbling up lots in the peaceful mountain areas for prices ranging from $1,500 to $5,000 and up.

In 1965, more than 200,000 new lots were included in subdivision planned by the more than 100 developers operating in the county.

"If these transactions eventually pass through the recorder's office and various filing fees are charged,

Also, the government is starting to buy land for Tocks Island and the Delaware Water Gap National Recreation Area.

Congress has conservatively estimated that it will cost $35 million to buy the almost 72,000 acres needed for the project.

All these land transactions must be funneled through the local register and recorder's office.

The register and recorder is not the only Monroe County officeholder getting rich from this "fee" and "commission" system.

Last year, the county treasurer earned more than $18,000, more than any other treasurer in the state.

One reason for this is that Monroe County has actually outgrown its classification as a seventh class county.

The county has $88 million worth of assessed land, three times as much as any other seventh class county in the state and more than Northumberland County, a fifth class county with 104,000 residents.

Last year, some legislators made an attempt to do away with the fee and commission system for elected county officials.

But, the state organizations representing these officeholders beat back the attempt to place the offices on a salary.

Many local politicians in Monroe County are fighting Yost and his pledge to end the fee system.

Wingless Program Set Back

EDWARDS AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP) — Pilot Bruce A. Peterson survived the crash landing of the experimental, wingless M2F2 at 200 miles an hour, but Wednesday's ill-fated mission will set back the new program, a space agency spokesman said.

The 6,000-pound craft, shaped like a flat iron with a rounded bottom and fairly flat top, rolled from side to side, then slammed into a dry lake bed and overturned several times.

Peterson, 33, a civilian flier, sustained serious injuries, but a doctor at March Air Force Base in Riverside Calif., said the outlook for the pilot's recovery was "encouraging."

National Aeronautics and Space Administration officials said the craft, called a lifting body because its shape gives it an aerodynamic lift usually provided by wings, did not have its landing gear fully extended when it landed. And there were roll control problems, they said.

The M2F2 and another lifting body, the HL10, were scheduled to be tested this summer. Rocket engines generating 8,000 pounds of thrust were to take them up to 80,000 feet at speeds of 1,100 miles per hour.

But a NASA official said Wednesday's crash will stall the program.

Lifting bodies are intended to be the forerunners of spacecraft that will carry men from orbit to earth landings.

The craft was dropped from a B52 bomber at 45,000 feet.

Tax Collectors Have New Image

WASHINGTON (AP) — Now that the dust has settled after income tax time, think back.

Perhaps you noticed the tax collector's new image with which he took special pains this year. The Internal Revenue Service is trying to make it as painless as possible to pay taxes — it admits it can't remove all the pain — and it thinks it's succeeding because of its new efforts at courtesy and helpfulness.

It's all part of an attempt to shift the emphasis from the suspicious, hounding type of tax collector to one who shares a common trust with the public. Of course, lurking in the background is one of the biggest computer systems yet devised with its central office at Martinsburg, W. Va., and seven regional centers scattered throughout the country.

This system is processing all tax returns for the first time this year. A good part of the processing already has been completed but there's still more to go, especially the millions of returns which were filed in the few days before the April 17 deadline.

The computers check each return for arithmetic errors and compare the information on them with income data sent to IRS by a taxpayer's employer, bank or corporation in which he holds stock.

The computer scares some taxpayers into compliance — IRS said Wednesday it already has induced 1,500 persons to cough up voluntarily more than $6 million in taxes owed from previous years. Yet employees now present a more friendly, personal touch.

Officials estimated that of the 70 million individual tax returns received this year, the files of 25 million sought some type of help from IRS ranging from a full-fledged office visit to a simple telephone call.

The attempt to create a new image began several years ago when the service's top brass concluded that IRS had fallen into the habit of looking mainly at enforcement.

"This created a climate in which an adversary spirit could grow between our people and taxpayers — a feeling that Internal Revenue's job is to protect the revenue, and it's the taxpayer's job to protect himself," said IRS Commissioner Sheldon S. Cohen.

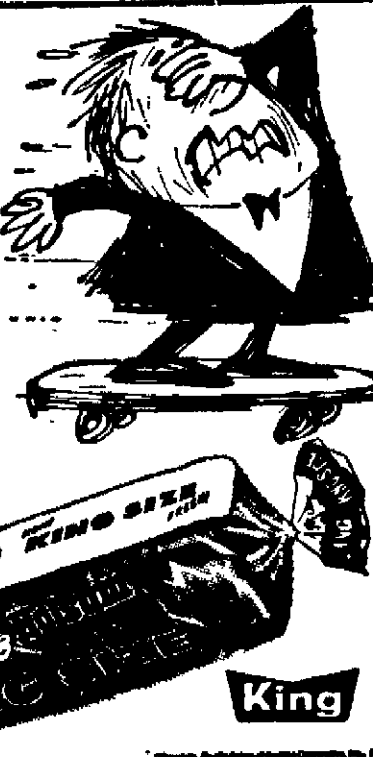

IRS policy, Cohen added, is to select for public-contact jobs only those persons who have the qualifications and characteristics for meeting people.

Courtesy is the benchmark of IRS training, ranging from simple telephone calls to sensitive tax administration areas, he added.

But remember that computer. It eventually will retain in its memory a three-year history of every taxpayer.

— WORLD WAR II VETERAN —

TO ALL VOTERS OF WARREN COUNTY . . . I pledge that if I am elected to the office of County Commissioner, I will devote all of my time to the duties of this office and promise to do, to the best of my knowledge and ability, what is expected of me. I have no other interest that will keep me from devoting full time to this office. If elected I will work for the betterment of the county, and for the citizens of Warren County. Especially in taxation and housing and the problems of our senior citizens. Also, I will work for better county roads, equal estate taxes, and for improved school and child welfare. Also, I will recognize and take part in all veterans affairs as far as they concern the commissioners office. I further promise that there will be a study of any, and all, problems that arise . . . not like in the past, such as the airport in Bradford and other problems. I pledge to further the growth and economy of Warren County. Also to work for more and better camp sites to add to the scenic beauty of the county and for aid to the tourist, fisherman, and hunter.

'KNOW YOUR COUNTY'

'Public Health and Sanitation'

- A. Administrative Organization.
- Does your county have a board of health?
No. The borough of Warren has a board of health, but the other boroughs and townships use the services of the State sanitarian, whose office is located at the State Health Center, 104 Water street, Warren.
  - How many members has the Warren borough board of health? Five.
  - Are they elected or appointed? Appointed by Borough Council.
  - What are their qualifications? Citizens interested in public health.
  - What are the terms of office? Salaries? Duties?
They serve a five-year term, one terminating each year. There is one paid employee, a secretary paid $50 monthly. They attend monthly board meetings and handle emergencies when the health officer is on vacation.
  - Are the functions administrative or advisory?
The board enforces the state laws and borough ordinances pertaining to public health.
  - Is there a full-time or part-time county health commissioner, or health officer?
No. However, Warren borough employs a full-time health officer.
  - How is he selected? What qualifications are required?
He is appointed by the board of health, approved by Borough Council and by the State medical director. His qualifications include the requirement that he be trained by the State Health Department.
  - What are his principal duties?
He must inspect dairies that produce milk which is consumed in Warren borough, a wide-ranging procedure. He inspects all eating and drinking establishments, public or private, also groceries, meat markets, etc. With the State sanitarian he inspects the borough schools, nursing homes, the Children's Home and other places used by the public. The board of health keeps records of, and control of, communicable diseases in the borough.
  - What is the borough health officer's salary? $6600 yearly.
  - Are your county health services and your county hospital consolidated under one head? No, there is no county hospital.
  - Is your county a part of a district health unit embracing a larger area? Yes. It is part of Region Three, located at Meadville.
  - Are there local health services performed jointly with other local governments? The board of health works with the school nurses, visiting nurses, and the state nurses.
  - Has there been any recent consolidation of such services?
No.

SANITARY SERVICES

- What arrangements are made by your county for dairy inspection and pasteurization of milk?
A dairy sanitarian from the Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture is responsible for a six-county area. He inspects all dairies a minimum of once a year.
- What are the sources of water supply in your county? Are there provisions for possible shortages? Is the water tested and treated? Do you have a sanitary engineer or other officer who is responsible for these services?

Drilled wells, springs and streams are the sources of supply. There are no provisions for water shortages. All public water supplies are tested every six months. The Know Your Town book published by the League of Women Voters states that the Warren Water Company tests its water daily and also treats it by adding chlorine and lime.
New water supplies are checked before they are used. Checks of water supplies will be made at the request of the owner. The State sanitarian serves this area. Youngsville, Russell, Clarendon, Tidioute, Sheffield and Irvine have their own water supplies. There is no county engineer or other officer in charge of this service.
3. How does your county administer disposal of garbage and sewage? Is there a county-owned sewage treatment plant?
The State sanitarian inspects the five land-fill garbage disposal places periodically. There is no county sewage plant.
Under House Bill 537 as of July 1, 1967, permits are required to be issued on subsurface sewage disposal. This applies to all homes on plots of less than one acre. Direct approval is required for sewage disposal for all public facilities. Municipalities must submit plans for sewage treatment.
4. Do county health services include inspection of nursery school, retail food establishments, processing plants? Is there rodent control? Rabies control? Is there a weights and measures department?
Nursery schools are not inspected. Retail food establishments are inspected at least twice a year, as are processing plants. There is rodent, insect and rabies control through the State sanitarian's office.
The county commissioners appoint a sealer of weights and measures.
Further duties of the State sanitarian: he investigates contagious diseases, and food or water-borne epidemics for the county. He inspects public camps, migrant labor camps, travel trailer camps, roadside rests, the Girl Scout and Boy Scout camps. He also inspects swimming pools every two weeks during the times of their operation.

PUBLIC HEALTH NURSING

- Do you have a county nursing system?
No. Home nursing, in the county is taken care of by the Visiting Nurse Association. It is funded by the United Fund and patient fees; it does not receive county, state or federal funds. There are two full-time nurses and one half-time. The ratio of nurses to the population they serve is one per 1,720 residents.
- How are they selected? By the Nurses Committee of the association.
- Are they registered nurses, with special training for public health work?
Yes, they are RN's with some public health training or experience.
- What is their salary range? It is $375 to $400 a month. The part-time scale is $2 hourly.
- What automobile expenses do they receive?
One car is furnished by the Visiting Nurses Association. The other nurses are paid ten cents a mile for use of their own cars.
- What are the duties of the nurses?
They give professional nursing care in the home, upon doctor's referral.

THE STATE NURSES

There are presently two State nurses on duty in the county, with offices at the State Health Center, 104 Water Street. They are selected by civil service examinations and are registered nurses with special training for public health work. Their salary range is $5268 to $7055 yearly. Their automobiles are furnished by the State.
The State nurses conduct a teaching program in the county. They do not go into the homes except to instruct the family in nursing care. They conduct ten Well Baby Clinics a month, assist with the Crippled Children's clinics, hold a weekly chest clinic. They refer patients to Erie for cardiac and lung ailments, to the Penna. Association for the Blind, to Pittsburgh for plastic surgery, and to Phillipsburg for hearing difficulties.
Certain communicable diseases are reported by the nurses to the State Department of Public Health. They also do follow-up work for men rejected by Selective Service, referring them to the doctor of the man's choice or to a rehabilitation center in Erie. Home visits are made by the State nurses on Public Assistance maternity cases.
The office hours of the State nurses are 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. Mondays through Friday.
Is there a health education program in the county? Yes. The State nurses are responsible for teaching and demonstrating nursing principles and techniques in clinics and homes.

Union Gives Tart Reply

SMETHWICH, England (AP) — A sympathy strike for a ployed lady pie inspector ended temporarily in Smethwich today.
The lady, Susan Phillips, stood by a conveyor belt for three years watching 90,000 pies fly by each hour of the day. Her job, to grab low-grade jam tarts before they entered the oven, was dizzying.
But when she asked her boss at Scribbans Kemp Bakeries for a transfer to a less eye-straining job, they fired her.
With that, 800 fellow workers walked out and the bakery's daily 1.5 million pie production stopped.
The one-day strike ended when management agreed to negotiate. But the union said full production would not be resumed until the case is settled.
Mrs. Phillips, 46, said: "These tarts come at me on 120 trays a minute. The strain on my eyes is terrible."

RELIGION IN THE NEWS

'Teach Us To Pray'

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
AP Religion Writer

A refugee child, placed in an American foster home, had her first experience with prayer. As the story goes, she described the family devotions as "talking to someone who isn't there."
Obviously, it seemed to her a strange procedure, and even among the religiously versed, there have been recurring questions about the ways and workings of prayer.
"Teach us to pray," the apostles asked Jesus in the beginnings of Christianity.
And believers ever since have approached the discipline of personal prayer variously—in confidence or uncertainty, in regularity or hardly at all, as an intimate compass to life, or a mere external formality.
Nowadays "prayer for many is like a foreign land," says the Rev. Dr. Robert McAfee Brown, a Presbyterian theologian. "When we go there, we go as tourists. Like most tourists, we feel uncomfortable and out of place."

Catholic philosopher Michael Novak, writing in the weekly, Commonweal, says it is astonishing "how many Christians no longer pray," as if God no longer was available in private devotions.
Novak says that one of the troubles is that many Christians "have scarcely progressed beyond the habits of childhood" in regard to prayer.
They "think that prayer means asking for things, for good weather, to find lost objects, to obtain peace of mind, to make an important sale. The mode is 'gimme'." The implicit world view is magical.
But as he and many Christian scholars emphasize, prayer basically involves an attitude of responsiveness to God, of concentration on openness to His will, whatever it may be, which is what a person needs, even though he doesn't know it.
"Prayer is response to God," says the Rev. Dr. John B. Coburn, dean of the Episcopal Theological Seminary, Cambridge, Mass.

It is all right, he says, "to begin by asking God to help us in any way we see fit," but in genuinely receptive prayer, "we end by asking God to help us as He sees fit, and to meet our needs, not as we see them, but as He sees them."

That was the example set by the Virgin Mary at the annunciation, "Thy will be done," and by Christ before His crucifixion, "Not My will, but Thine, be done."
Ultimately, "You are using God when you pray for your own ends," writes noted Protestant theologian Reinhold Niebuhr.
Prayer, he adds, should not be for "trivial ends" but for "integrity, courage, wisdom."
Through the ages, church scholars have often pictured the totality of living, and sensitivity to it, as a continuous prayer, or effort to attune oneself to full reality. "Pray without ceasing," St. Paul advised.
As Martin Luther, the 16th Century Protestant reformer put it, "Faith is nothing but pure prayer."
Catholic Novak says that for the adult Christian, prayer is "fundamentally an orientation of the will" in search for reconciliation with the "real world" of dynamic change in which God's will is an unknown "X".
It is, he adds, an "attitude of radical openness" to that ever unfolding reality.
"The effect of prayer is not that it binds God to something," he adds, "God is not our servant boy, to be summoned and given orders. The effect of prayer is to change ourselves."
"It is to make us more alert to the subtle nuances of human relations, to the actual course of daily events around us, to the possibilities for creativity and brotherhood to which we might have been blind."

The reason for praying is to become more realistic, more open, more discerning. Reality makes many demands upon us; the purpose of prayer is to open our eyes and ears to the fullness of the real world in which we live."

There are various types of prayer — adoration of God, thanksgiving, confession of wrongs, intercession for others, petition for guidance, and all of them intertwine to some extent in most prayers.
Dr. Coburn, in a book, "Prayer and Personal Religion," offers some specific suggestions for developing a mature personal prayer life. Most of the practical methods also have been commended by other Christians in history.
Among them:
Pray each day at the same time.
Have a regular place of prayer.
The posture you assume, standing, kneeling, sitting, or lying down, makes no difference, except as it aids your own concentration.
Prepare for prayer with a brief period of devotional reading.
Pray as long as you need or want to — no longer.
Pray whether you "feel like it" or not.

The Rev. Dr. Daniel D. Williams of Union Theological Seminary, says that in prayer, "God himself ventures with us into a future where His decisions take account of our actions."

"It is not a question that prayer will change God's mind or His intention. That is surely a naive view of the matter. Rather it is the discovery in prayer that the soul and God are joined in personal freedom and God has given us the dignity of decision."

GOP Candidate For Warren County Commissioner

By
Anthony (Tony) Tomassoni

This will be the last of the Tuesday articles I have been using to acquaint you, the VOTERS of Warren County, my views and awareness of the complex problems that exist in our county representation and government.

I am sure that in the past few weeks you have read several articles relating to our present commissioners — to quote a few: One criticized the other two commissioners on the Airport Issue, then the second came back the next day criticizing the first; then another came out with a statement criticizing the first and ended his statement, "aren't you beginning to wonder if Warren County can afford him", end of quotes. All a big confusion of temperaments and individual political publicity, timed just before election primaries to impress you, I say this, can Warren County afford the three of them???

I am sure, you the people of Warren County, are a little disgusted with so little results of a very important part of our county government. For as long as I can recall and I am sure you the taxpayers of Warren County also cannot forget the great temperaments and individual accusations and even physical violence that has existed amongst these three elected representatives of our county. Each one says, "I stand on my record." What record? It is not even amusing anymore. They have made this office a political pork barrel for their own attainments. Coming in when they please — doing what they please, and never a unanimous decision ever reached on any issue or problem. Each of them have outside personal interests.

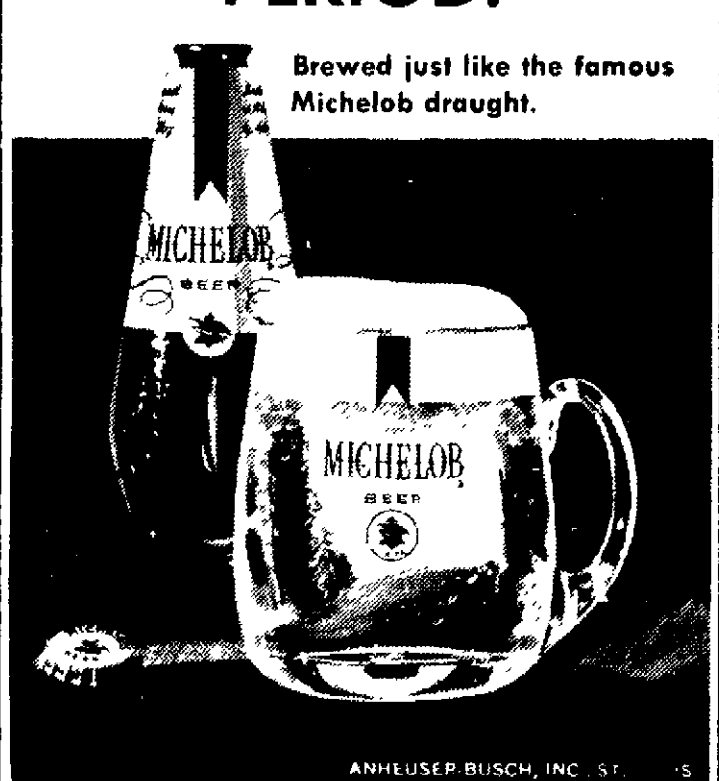

Well VOTERS, what do you say? Are we going to make 1967 the year of awakening? Are we going to use our vote to bring back the prestige and the Courthouse back to the people of Warren County? Shall we awaken and take a deep interest in the problems facing us: Anti-poverty — our very important Senior Citizens — Housing — Transportation — Tax Assessments — Airport Issue? Shall we begin a new era, a new approach that will get results, not pre-election promises? Let's do it for the sake of our children's future and the good of all persons in Warren County. We cannot afford to let the present conditions go on, and we cannot expect any better results with the present three commissioners, for they have had countless opportunities to do something about these problems, but have never been able to agree, they are not compatible.

Let us quit fooling ourselves, they have had it their way too long and I say now is the time to change this ridiculous situation. Each has his own little cliché, on one hand you have the unseen Boss — who in fact called me the day I announced my candidacy and asked me to withdraw my name due to my age. Well, I think we need a bit of youth for this office; a fresh approach — not necessarily retired persons or someone who can listen to instructions from the Boss behind the scenes. I have no intention to start a rift in the Republican Party, for I am a Republican voter and always will be. I definitely believe in the two party form of government, but I will not let anyone use me as a puppet pulling the strings at will. For I will not be a puppet for any group or any individual nor do I owe any political favors. I am not a politician, do not pretend to be — I merely wish to serve you as a paid public servant and devote a full forty hours a week or more to the job of representing you honestly, sincerely and with the same determination and hard work I used to become a successful business man — Self made thankful to God, for my health and ability to be able to think of and help my fellow man and look a problem squarely in the face and with full cooperation of all county and boro offices, to discuss the pros and cons and reach a final decision with one goal, always, to better everyone in Warren County and make Warren County a leader in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. We can do it — you the TAXPAYERS can make it a reality — I earnestly ask for your support. I wish to thank all of the people who have read my articles and for the encouragement and courtesies they have shown me.
Be sure and read my summation in Monday's edition of the Warren Times-Mirror & Observer on May 15.

Sincerely,
Anthony Tomassoni (Tony)

LOOKING AT FINANCE

The Kennedy Round

By JOHN CUNIFF
NEW YORK (AP) - A dramatic deadline in a drab but important subject may determine this weekend whether the world's nations will have more freedom and less expense in trading with each other.

threatened walkouts, boredom, crises, stubborn silence, shouting, despair, hope, weary red eyes all have been part of the panorama at a lakeside villa in Geneva.

The object of the Kennedy Round, so called because authorization for the United States to participate came during the Kennedy administration, is to liberalize trade. Its chief method would be to lower industrial tariffs.

Tariffs have existed as long as trade has, the primary reason being to protect domestic industries from foreign competition. However, many of these tariffs have become rigid even when protection might not be needed. And they have been torn by exceptions.

Nations now feel that reciprocal dropping of tariff barriers would lead to benefits for all. American products might sell in greater quantity and at lower prices in France. French products might have the same result here.

In addition to the tariffs, the negotiators are considering a plan to regulate the world market for grains. This is one of the major considerations considered by the 53 nations represented at Geneva. Most of these nations, however, have had little to say so far.

The reason for this is that the two great trading powers have nearly monopolized the affair. These are the United States and the European Common Market nations of Germany, Italy, France, The Netherlands, Belgium and Luxembourg.

These two powers have pressed each other to the limit in an attempt to reach agreements best suited to their interests - and as they view it, to the eventual interests of all nations.

Grains was one issue - but only one - involved. The United States, for instance, wished the Common Market nations to continue to leave open some 13 per cent of its grain market to shipments from other nations.

The Common Market nations, however, wished to lower this figure to 10 per cent. European farmers, it said, wished to expand their production and wanted less competition.

A 10 per cent figure was unacceptable to Americans, who have an enormous production capacity, for it would mean foreign nations could sell 2.1 million tons less than was now being sold in Europe. Such a figure would never be approved by the American Senate. And so a stalemate developed.

Negotiations for either side couldn't let this situation prevail because American authorization to negotiate was rapidly running out. The entire negotiations could collapse.

As a result, the United States withdrew its demand. And in return the Common Market made concessions on a request involving the support of world grain prices.

The complexity of these agreements might be compared to an encyclopedia in small type with all the footnotes included. The disputes seem to be over asterisks. And the agreements seem only to add footnotes. The stakes are big nevertheless.

Now the negotiators of the United States and the Common Market have until midnight Sunday to reach agreement on important odds and ends that stand in the way of further negotiations by all 53 nations.

Nelson Named Research Head For PDM Co.

Ardele H. Nelson, formerly of Warren, has been named director of research for Pittsburgh-Des Moines Steel Company, Pittsburgh.

He will be responsible for all of the company's research and development programs. A 1956 graduate of Penn State University with a B.S. degree in civil engineering, Nelson joined Pittsburgh-Des Moines in 1964. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold A. Nelson of 3 Elm St.

He is a member of the American Society of Civil Engineers, American Petroleum Institute, American Society for Testing and Materials, and the civil engineering honor society, Chi Epsilon, and is a registered professional engineer in the states of New York and Pennsylvania.

PDM engineers and builds a variety of products for water storage and for paper, petroleum, petrochemical, cryogenics, nuclear, aerospace, and other industries; and is also involved in heavy plate construction.

Cleanup of French Creek Asked

WASHINGTON (AP) - Rep. Joseph R. Vigorito, D-Pa., says a $400,000 Congressional appropriation is needed during the next fiscal year to launch a full-scale attack on flooding problems in the French Creek Basin, Crawford County, Pa. Vigorito asked a House Appropriation Subcommittee Wednesday to include the money in next year's budget to allow construction of the Muddy Creek Flood Control Dam.

Vigorito pointed out that Muddy Creek Dam is one of three proposed for the French Creek Basin, where, he said, thousands have seen their homes ravished by floods for generations.

The budget already includes funds to acquire land for the Woodcock Creek Dam and for continued pre-construction planning for the Union City Dam.

Lower Electrical Rates

Reduced rates for businesses, industries and institutions using electricity as the sole source of energy for all purposes, including heating, were filed yesterday by Pennsylvania Electric Company with the State Public Utility Commission in Harrisburg, according to Penelec President Louis H. Roddis, Jr.

The lower rates, which would become effective July 10, will represent savings to the 174 customers now eligible for the new rate by more than $20,000 annually. This would be a decrease of about 6.5 per cent in Penelec's revenues from those customers. The new rate will also eliminate the necessity for customers who wish electric heating to install a separate circuit and meter for heating, with subsequent savings in construction costs.

The utility president explained that the new rates are designed to encourage Penelec's business and industrial customers to convert space conditioning in existing buildings or install all-electric systems in new structures. Penelec has had an all-electric rate for residential and farm customers since 1958 and, since 1959, a space heating rate for commercial and industrial customers, which requires a separate meter and a separate circuit. The latter rate will continue to be available to customers not eligible otherwise for the new rate.

Roddis noted that this rate decrease would bring to about $7 million the annual savings realized by all classifications of Penelec customers, as a result of rate cuts voluntarily initiated by Penelec over the past seven years.

He said: "Like the all-electric home concept, the total electric office, store, and factory is quickly gaining wide popularity and is becoming one of the fastest growing aspects of our business. In 1966, the number of electrically heated industrial buildings grew by 16 per cent, and the number of commercial and institutional buildings with electric heating grew by 23 per cent."

Minuteman Cell Discovered in Warwick, R.I.

WARWICK, R. I. (AP) - Police have uncovered what they believe to be a small bastion of the Minutemen Society, a militant anti-Communist organization, and have seized a small arsenal of weapons.

The weapons, including a semi-automatic rifle and two loaded shotguns, were found during the last two days at and near the home of Howard J. Moffett, 38.

Moffett and George D. Andrews, 24, pleaded innocent yesterday in East Greenwich.

HONORED AT RETIREMENT

Honored Wednesday night by a retirement dinner at Three Flags Inn was Mrs. Esther Ohmer, who served 43 years in the banking business in Sugar Grove. She worked at the bank there when it was privately owned by C.M. Chortt, through recent mergers with the former Warren Bank and Trust Company and in what is presently part of Pennsylvania Bank and Trust Company. Pictured with Mrs. Ohmer are Robert R. Baldwin, (left) bank manager and Paul E. Harrington (right), vice president. (Photo by Mahan)

Youngsville Kiwanis Tours Rouse Home

Youngsville Kiwanis toured the Rouse Home Tuesday to inspect the new facilities being constructed.

The tour was conducted by D. H. Lay, program chairman for the evening, who led a room by room inspection trip, explaining the purpose and planned use of each and the special equipment being installed.

Kiwanians were told the new buildings are supposed to be completed and ready for use in June and that new additions to the home will provide care for 185 patients.

President Howard Husted welcomed the Rev. James Dorow, pastor of Saron Lutheran Church, Youngsville, who will be officially installed as a member at the May 16 meeting. Also welcomed as a guest was Robert Peterson of the Warren County Planning Commission and past president of Warren Jaycees.

Kiwanians Kenneth Franklin, Elton Barton, Gilbert Sanford and Husted with their wives attended the Pennsylvania District Governors' dinner at the Beachcomer Hotel in Erie last evening.

The program for next week's meeting will observe National Radio Week with James Potter of Station WNAE and WRN as speaker.

and election of officers April 8.

Mrs. Andersen also explained how to obtain audiovisual material for next year.

It was noted that over the summer revision of outside reading lists is to be carried on at each grade level.

English Teachers Plan Activities Next Year

English teachers at Warren Area High School met Monday to plan activities of the English department for the 1967-68 school year.

Mrs. Jo Thorn, the newly elected chairman, presided; serving as secretary was Howard Ferguson.

The following will be chairmen of standing committees: David Green, conferences and professional materials; June Andersen, programs; Kathryn Martin, department handbooks; Malena Bidek, fellowship; and Meredith Coe, publicity.

It was noted that May 15 is the deadline for telling the administration what types of literature will be taught in all courses each semester next year. All teachers at the same level will be covering the same types of literature (novel, essay, drama, etc.) each semester; this reportedly will prevent problems with schedule changes.

Mrs. Andersen announced the tentative program for the four department meetings to be held during the next school year. The tentative program calls for an orientation meeting Sept. 11, a dinner meeting Nov. 13, a workshop Feb. 12.

The exact spot at which the Magna Carta was sealed during the mid-June conference of 1215 has long been disputed by local contenders for the honor.

Borough Council Finance Report

Bills totaling $1951.95 were approved for payment at last Monday night's session of Tidioute borough council. Fines and penalties during the preceding month netted $68.92 and parking meter collections were $211.60.

The treasurer's report showed the following balances in the various accounts: general fund, $4423.33; highway fund, $2136.09; and lighting fund, $744.66.

Seek Birthdates Of Servicemen

The Ladies Auxiliary of Paquinot-Weaver Post 8803 VFW is seeking to compile a list of the birth dates of all men and women of the area who are serving in the armed services of their country.

Friends and relatives are requested to cooperate by giving any auxiliary member known names, addresses and birth dates.

From Our Corner

By LENORE MCINTYRE
CLEAN-UP CAMPAIGN

Amidst the current political effort another clean-up campaign is being waged. This is aimed at making Tidioute clean, neat, and attractive in advance of the season when the area has so many visitors.

Two of Tidioute's leading organizations, the Garden Club and the Fortnightly Club, made requests to borough council Monday night and the City Fathers responded admirably. Mayor G. K. Lodge forthwith issued a proclamation to the effect that May 22-27 is to be observed as "Clean-up Week in Tidioute" and council backed him by voting to provide truck pick-up service.

It should be emphasized that this collection service does not pertain to tin cans, bottles, newspapers, and ordinary household refuse for which weekly garbage service is available. It refers to the seasonal debris and refuse that usually can be found around most homes when spring cleaning, house and yard, goes into full swing.

Besides the political brooms pledging a clean sweep in the county and the rakes and brushes that will tidy up our homes and yards, the Tidioute Lions Club black fly committee is working hard to solve our bug problem.

If you haven't visited the larvae display at the Ford garage in Tidioute do stop in to see what the little pests look like before they start flying around and nipping you. And Bob Schwab will be glad to give you a full account of the research and field studies being made by the state departments of health and agriculture and the Pennsylvania State University.

This writer had a letter this week from a Warren man (who prefers to remain anonymous to the public) on the subject of birds and bugs. He has read of the black fly problem in the Tidioute area and writes as follows:

"I fully believe that a few colonies of purple martins would solve the black fly problem. I do not recall seeing martin houses in Tidioute. I would suggest you recommend a martin house campaign. The houses are not expensive to buy or anyone able to handle tools can build one of scrap material for practically nothing.

"I am a martin fan and can give many suggestions if they are desired. I think houses built now would be discovered by the birds and occupied next year."

The author of the letter prefers that any correspondence with him on this subject should be directed to the editor of this column. So if you are interested in learning more about purple martins and their known appetite for insects and how to build or where to buy martin houses, address your inquiries to this column, Box D, Tidioute, Pa.

It is doubtful that the birds are the answer to the black fly problem which is far more complicated than even first suspected. However, they do reduce the insect population in many species and are most pleasant company in your yard.

A parting thought: be sure to vote Tuesday... participate in the community clean-up campaign... and support the black fly war!

Blood Donors Solicited

To Tidioute Area Residents: If you are not a regular donor of blood and are healthy and between the ages of 18-60, will you please contact Mrs. Bruce Ziegler, 484-3483, and be scheduled to give blood to the Blood Bank Mobile which will be located in Youngsville on May 17 from 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. The mobile unit will be located at St. Francis of Assisi Episcopal Church on E. Main St. in Youngsville.

If you are working during these hours and wish to be a donor, most employers are very cooperative in arranging for time off.

Siggins Class Renovates Room

The renovation project sponsored by the Ida Siggins Class of First Methodist Church has been completed. It consisted of repainting the walls of the nursery classroom and refinishing tables, chairs, piano, and other furniture.

The class held its monthly meeting Monday night in the church parlors with eight members present. Cash contributions were made to the Ruth M. Smith Children's Home in Sheffield and to the Rev. Louis Dennis, a missionary in the Southwest Asia field who spoke last week in the Tidioute Methodist Church.

Mrs. Karl Johnson will be hostess at her home for the June meeting.

Mountain Grange Drapes Charter

The ritual of draping the charter was conducted at the recent meeting of Mountain Grange. The deceased member being honored was a past master, Beatty H. Demitt.

Mrs. Ethel Brecht presented the literary program which consisted of a recounting of her trip to California. It was announced that the Mother's Day cake contest will be held at tonight's meeting, May 12, in the Grange Hall.

Argentine Youth Speaks At PTA

Juan Carlos Monquet, of Alta Gracia, Argentina, spoke Tuesday night at the Tidioute PTA meeting held in the school cafeteria. An exchange student presently attending Warren high school, he described his country, community, and home life. New officers elected at the April meeting were installed and Mrs. Fred Amos and Mrs. Paul Shields were appointed to serve as auditors. The PTA is sponsoring a public dance in the school gym on Saturday night, May 13, and plans are progressing for the annual junior-senior banquet.

A stage band from Warren high school is presenting a concert in the school auditorium today, Friday, May 12, at 12:05 p.m. to 12:50 p.m. The public is extended a cordial invitation to attend.

Thomas Walsh, guidance instructor, recently represented the Tidioute PTA at a meeting of the Warren County Council of PTA. Mrs. Margaret Froman, math teacher, will be taking the students of the safety patrol on the annual excursion to Conneaut Lake Park.

Opening devotions were presented by the Rev. Eugene Sheldon, pastor of Tidioute Free Methodist Church, and during the social period refreshments were served by kindergarten and grade one homeroom mothers, headed by Mrs. Robert Jamieson, Mrs. Milton Check and Mrs. John Gerus.

WSCS Donates to Children's Home

The Methodist WSCS has sent a cash contribution to the Ruth M. Smith Children's Home in Sheffield to be used for repair projects. An invitation was extended by the home to WSCS members to attend the Founders Day picnic on June 10 at 12 noon and it is expected that several members of the local Methodist women's group will accept.

Plans were made at Tuesday night's WSCS meeting held in First Methodist Church for a rummage sale to be conducted in the Bush building (former S.V. Nichols building) during the first two weeks in June. Pickup service will be available for those having contributions to the sale.

Circle Three will have devotions and program at the June 6 WSCS meeting and hostesses will be members of Circle Two.

PTA Sponsors Dance May 13

A public dance will be sponsored by the Tidioute PTA in the school gymnasium on Saturday, May 13, from 8 p.m. to 11:30 p.m. Music will be provided by the high school stage band.

Tables and chairs will be placed cafe-style throughout the gym for the convenience of people who wish to come and listen to the band and watch the dancers.

Refreshments of hot dogs, coffee and pop will be on sale. Tickets may be obtained at the door or in advance by calling 484-3910.

Tidioute Calendar

DANCE in school gym Saturday night, May 13. Public invited to attend.

TIDIOUTE LIONS CLUB will have a dinner meeting Tuesday night, May 16, at the Pittsburgher.

Rev. Horne Delegate To Presby. Assembly

The Rev. Nelson O. Horne, vice moderator and pastor of United Presbyterian Church in Tidioute and Irvine, will be one of the six persons from the Presbytery of Lake Erie to form the body of the 833 commissioners to the 179th General Assembly of the United Presbyterian Church U.S.A. when it meets in Portland, Oregon, May 18-24.

The others from the Erie Presbytery are J. Ernest Jack, moderator of Presbytery, elder of First Church, Titusville; Richard P. Myer, elder, Port Allegany Church; Cmdr. Robert Odell, chaplain, U.S. Navy; and the Rev. Douglas P. Wright, pastor of First Church in Bradford.

As official delegates to the 3.3 million-member denomination's annual General Assembly, the commissioners will take action on reports from national boards and agencies. They also will note on numerous recommendations put before the assembly, the church's highest governing body, by presbyteries and synods.

One of the first actions of the assembly will be to elect a moderator, the church's highest office, to succeed the Rev.

WCTU Packs Boxes For Veterans

Tidioute WCTU members brought articles to Tuesday afternoon's meeting for the boxes which will be packed and sent to an area veterans' home. The meeting was held at the home of Mrs. Virginia Taylor and opened with the singing of a hymn, "In the Garden."

Mrs. Arthur King was devotional leader, using the theme "Concerning Our Christian Heritage." Scripture passages were read from Exodus 20 and John 19.

Program leader was Mrs. Elvott Lanning who presented articles pro and con to the WCTU organization which have appeared in national magazines. She also read an item on smoking titled "A Father's Letter to His Son."

Mrs. Dean Nicholson read a Mother's Day poem and Mrs. Chester Morse reviewed the study book lesson. The June meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Morse.

4-H News

A 4-H Club has been organized in Limestone township and the first meeting was held Monday, May 8, with officers being elected. They are: president, Arta Benzle; vice president, James Ziegler; secretary, treasurer, Sheryl Davis; song leader, Donette Benzle; game leader, Terry Stover; and news reporter, Cindy Dashner.

Other members of the club are Teresa Stec, Debra Wellner, Becky Ziegler, Jeff Dashner, Jim Benzle and Todd Benzle. The youngsters selected "Limestone Lads and Lassies" as the name for their club.

John Ziegler, teen leader, gave a demonstration on how to obtain a soil sample. The next meeting will be held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Ziegler on Monday, May 22, at 6:30 p.m.

Clean-up Week in Tidioute Borough

Mayor G. K. Lodge has issued a proclamation designating the week of May 22-27 as "Clean-up Week" in Tidioute borough. Pickup service will be provided by the borough and Benjamin Courson.

Residents of the community are urged to participate in this effort to make Tidioute tidy and attractive for the many visitors who will be coming into town, starting with the Memorial Day observation.

Sponsorship of the clean-up campaign is headed by the Tidioute Garden Club and the Tidioute Fortnightly Club.

Marvins To Mark 60th Anniversary

The 60th wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Arter B. Marvin of Tidioute will be observed May 14 from 1 p.m. to 4 p.m. in the Troy Center Aid Rooms. All friends and relatives of the couple are invited to attend.

The open house is being given by their children: Elmer and Marvin of Troy Center; Marion, Milton and Edward, Oil City; and Mrs. Anna Bunce of Clymer, N.Y.

Mr. and Mrs. Marvin were married April 10, 1907 in Franklin, Pa. The officiating clergyman was the Rev. Robert Brown.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to express our sincere appreciation to friends and neighbors for their messages of condolence, floral offerings, and many acts of kindness extended in the bereavement of our wife and mother. James H. Cravener James Cravener Jr.

Dr. Ganse Little of Pasadena, California. The candidates announced thus far for the one-year term of office are the Rev. William H. Hudnut, National Chairman of the Fifty Million Fund, and the Rev. Eugene Smathers, Pastor, Calvary Presbyterian Church, Crossville, Tennessee.

In subsequent actions, the assembly will consider major study reports on marriage and divorce, artificial prolongation of life, Communist China and international aid, ministry to the aging, leisure time, tax exemption on church property, crime in America, and goals for Indian ministry.

The General Assembly also will take final action on the proposed "Confession of 1967," which has been approved by two-thirds of the church's 187 presbyteries. Only a simple majority vote is necessary for making the first change in the church's confessional position in 300 years.

The Presbytery of Lake Erie is sending its General Presbyter, the Rev. William A. Parsons, to be an observer at the General Assembly.

RIDGE HOMES

Now that you have your building lot picked out, you can add thousands of dollars in cash to the value of your new home by helping to build it yourself.

Get a head start on your mortgage by taking part in the creation of your new home.

We'll give you a book called "You Can Do-It-Yourself." It'll show you how to add thousands of dollars to the cash value of your new Ridge home... just by taking part in its creation.

It's a simple little book written in plain language. No technical mumbo jumbo. It'll surprise you how easy it is to step in and take charge after your Ridge dealer has erected the foundation and exterior. You'll be able to put on insulation, install plasterboard, floors, interior trim, even paint. Of course, your Ridge dealer will do as much or as little as you want him to do, but every job you do adds more cash value to your new Ridge home.

The banks call this "equity", and it can grow to where it's worth more than you have to borrow from the bank. This "built-in-equity" is a big plus in your favor when the bank is considering your mortgage. We'll help you get that mortgage. Let's talk it over, and we'll give you the free book.

Concerned about getting a mortgage? Think about this: Every six hours another family moves into their new Ridge home. Don't just sit there! Come out and find out for yourself.

THE REVEREWOOD: one of 37 different models

New England charm is captured in the high-pitched roof and columned entrance of this distinctive rancher. The master bedroom is offset for complete privacy. 3 bedrooms, 2 baths, 1336 sq. ft. of space $7,645 includes the complete heating and electrical systems, gutters, downspouts, and complete bathrooms and kitchen all ready for installation. Foundation and erection of a weatherproofed exterior by your local Ridge dealer optional at additional cost. Delivery within 300 miles of Phila. Pa. is free.
